NEW STATE DRY LAW, AS PASSED, HAS SHARP TEETH

Increasing of Penalty for Many Violations to Imprisonment in Penitentiary Among Drastic Features.

SALOONS MUST MOVE BLINDS AND SCREENS

Physicians Must Not Charge More for Liquor Than for Other Prescriptions; Drugists' Profits Limited.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—The new prohibition enforcement law, supplementing the enforcement law passed in 1919, was finally passed by the Legislature yesterday, and will become effective 90 days after it is signed by the Governor. It contains many drastic features, particularly increasing the penalty for violations to imprisonment in the penitentiary for some offenses.

While the bill has been explained in the Post-Dispatch from time to time during its progress through the Legislature, it has been changed in many respects. A brief synopsis of its principal provisions is here given.

Moonshining Made Felony.
The use of any distilling or brewing equipment in the manufacture of intoxicating liquor is a felony, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than two years.

Possession of such equipment is made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, and imprisonment for not less than 30 days nor more than one year.

Any manufacturer of nonalcoholic beverages through the process of desalcoholization who removes from the vat any of the liquid before the alcohol is removed is held to be guilty of a felony, punishable by a fine of not less than $1,000 and by imprisonment for not less than one year.

Any person who shall reclaim ethyl alcohol except under a permit of the United States Government is held to be guilty of a felony, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not to exceed five years, or by a fine of $1,000 and imprisonment in jail for one year.

Must Remove Screens.
Screens or blinds which would obstruct a view from the street of the entire interior of a soft drink stand are prohibited under penalty of a fine of from $200 to $1,000, or imprisonment for from 30 days to one year for the first offense; a fine of from $200 to $1,000 and by imprisonment for from three months to one year for the second offense, and by a fine of $1,000 and imprisonment for one year for the third offense.

Concealment of Intoxicating Liquor.
In a soft drink stand is prohibited under the same penalties.

Appearance of Taste of Beer.
The appearance or taste of beer, except in the original bottle or keg, branded with the name of the manufacturer, is prohibited under the same penalties.

Physicians Prescribing Intoxicating Liquors.
Physicians are limited to eight ounces of ethyl alcohol, one quart of wine or one pint of whiskey, are prohibited from charging a higher fee than for other prescriptions, and are required to make a physical examination of the person for whom the prescription is written.

Druggists' Profits Limited.
Druggists are prohibited from charging a greater profit on whiskey prescriptions than on other prescriptions.

Seizure of Search Warrants.
The issuance of search warrants is limited to Circuit Judges and Justices of the Peace, the present law, which permits Circuit Clerks to issue such warrants, being changed. The original bill, which authorized the issuance of warrants to search private dwellings, is amended to strike out that provision.

Property Declared a Nuisance.
The prohibition laws are declared forfeited at the discretion of the trial judge.

Searches, Seizures and Other Penalties.
Searches, seizures and other penalties are provided for the enforcement of the prohibition laws and are held to be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of from $500 to $1,000, or by imprisonment for from six months to one year.

Carrying Deadly Weapons.
Possession of a deadly weapon in any vehicle in which intoxicating liquor is illegally transported is punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than two years, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than one year, or by a fine of from $100 to $1,000.

Manufacture of "Moonshine."
The manufacture of "moonshine," corn whiskey or "hoosier," which causes A

GOVERNOR VETOES BILL FOR STATE DIRECTOR OF REVENUE

Action Leaves State Without Agency to Collect Corporation Taxes Unless Money Is Provided for Tax Commission.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—Gov. Hyde today vetoed the bill providing for the creation of the office of Director of Revenue and Disbursements, which was to take over some of the duties now performed by the State Tax Commission.

The veto of this bill was expected after the Governor's veto of the measure repealing the franchise tax law last week. The State now has no agency to collect $2,500,000 in corporation franchise taxes.

Explaining its program abolishing the State Tax Commission to go through, the Legislature has thus far appropriated no money for that body. Unless money is voted during the closing days of this session by means of an amendment to remaining appropriation bills, the commission will be rendered ineffectual.

The Governor's stated reason for killing the directorship bill was that provisions for such an office were inadequate and gave the proposed director no power to assess corporations, no power to assess corporations, no power to assess corporations.

The State Tax Commission has had this power. It is thought in legislative circles that there is little chance that money will be provided for the commission.

COST OF CONSTRUCTING FIRST-CLASS WARSHIP PUT AT $16,500,000

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 22.—The cost of building a first-class battleship in 1914 was approximately $5,000,000, or about $2,500,000, but the cost of a similar ship today is about $13,000,000 or about $16,500,000, according to Commander Eyre-McNessell, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty.

Explaining this increase, the expert says: "It must be borne in mind, however, that a modern capital ship embodies features found necessary in the light of war experience which involve a considerably greater tonnage, offensive and defensive armament, and consequently cost."

M. D. CAMPBELL DIES WHEN PLAYING GOLF

Michigan Man Recently Became "Dirt Farmer" Member of Federal Reserve Board.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 22.—Milo D. Campbell of Michigan, who recently became the "dirt farmer" member of the Federal Reserve Board, fell dead today when playing golf at the Columbia Country Club.

Campbell, whose home is at Coldwater, Mich., was president of the National Milk Producers' Association and was widely known as a practical farmer. He was named a member of the reserve board by President Harding under a new law authorizing farmer representation on the board, and took office about a week ago.

Until a few minutes before his death, Campbell, who was 71 years old, had appeared in the best of health. He was playing over the Century Club course with former Senator Townsend of Michigan and was stricken without warning. A Hindmarsh bettered by nearly an hour the record of 24 hours and 4 minutes.

$75,000 MORE OF GEMS OF BANKRUPT FIRM LOCATED

Harris, After Grilling Examination, Remembers Diamonds Were Pledged for a $50,000 Loan.

By the Associated Press.
COUNCIL FOR THE RECEIVER OF THE HARRIS & KOBEL DIAMOND IMPORTING CO., 704 Olive street, which failed last month with liabilities estimated at more than $1,000,000, announced today that Simon Van Raalte, 26 Washington Terrace, real estate operator, money lender and retired pawnbroker, will be summoned to testify as to his transactions with the defunct concern, at the next hearing before Referee in Bankruptcy Coles, March 27.

FOUND IN STRONGBOX OF LIGHTING COMPANY

Creditors Will Salvage Equity of $25,000 by This Stroke—Van Raalte to Be Summoned to Testify.

Counsel for the receiver of the Harris & Kober Diamond Importing Co., 704 Olive street, which failed last month with liabilities estimated at more than $1,000,000, announced today that Simon Van Raalte, 26 Washington Terrace, real estate operator, money lender and retired pawnbroker, will be summoned to testify as to his transactions with the defunct concern, at the next hearing before Referee in Bankruptcy Coles, March 27.

Louis K. Harris, president of the concern, and the firm's accountant have testified that the firm paid Van Raalte 18 per cent interest a year on loans, and Harris has testified that Van Raalte has $195,000 worth of the firm's diamonds and several hundred thousand dollars worth of customers' notes and accommodation paper that he holds as collateral for loans.

New York creditors are clamoring for a full investigation of the firm's transactions, and the National Jewelers' Board of Trade has assigned special men to the case.

Want the "18 Per Cent" Explained.
The lawyers say that Van Raalte more of the "18 per cent" transactions with Van Raalte, particularly his explanation of the "6 per cent per annum, trebled," which was the method by which interest was calculated at the direction of Charles G. Krell, Van Raalte's secretary, according to the testimony of the firm's accountant.

About $25,000 worth of the firm's diamonds were suddenly and unexpectedly located yesterday in a further examination of Harris before Referee Coles. Morris G. Levinson, of Levinson & Levinson, counsel for the receiver.

These gems, hypothecated months before the failure, were not known by the receiver to exist until this disclosure means that the creditors will at least salvage an equity of $25,000 by this stroke.

Had Not Mentioned Them Before.
In previous examinations of Harris he has refrained from mentioning these diamonds, and it required hours of vexatious questioning yesterday before his reluctant memory gave up this prize to the despairing creditors.

The diamonds are in the strong box of Jacob D. Cohen of the General Lighting and Supply Co., who Harris testified, advised $50,000 of them, in two loans of $25,000 each, in the last six months. Cohen is the father-in-law of Harry Z. Fleischmann, treasurer of the defunct concern.

It was a weary day for Harris. Combined against his mental reservations were the sharp minds of Levinson, A. M. Evans, attorney for Gleick and Receiver Coles. Levinson conducted the examination, assisted by the prompting of Frumberg and Gleick, and a Referee Coles interpreted the answers to the committee.

Harris' memory bombarded. They hammered away at Harris' memory throughout the morning endeavoring to induce him to tell what he did with the firm's diamonds in the last year. He was never positive. He would "think" this; "suppose" that, and "presume" other things. He gave the names of firms and persons, one of them a Rabbi, to whom he had pledged merchandise. But these names were known to the receivers. There were no others.

Harris insisted, absolutely none. It was true, he admitted, that he had had lapses of memory during the hearings, but he was certain his memory was playing him no tricks this time.

A recess of one hour then was taken for lunch. Harris was five minutes late for the afternoon session and was warmly reminded by Referee Coles that 2 o'clock meant 2 o'clock in that court.

Had Forgotten $50,000 Loan.
Harris was very sorry, but there was a reason for the delay. His partner had told him at lunch that he had forgotten to tell of a little matter of $50,000 that the firm had borrowed from Jacob D. Cohen on diamonds valued at $70,000 to $75,000. He was visibly embarrassed to think that after all the questioning of the morning session he had overlooked this little deal.

This pleasant revelation was almost too much for the referee's patience. He inquired of Harris if he would come back and see what they get.

SIX HOGAN GANG MEMBERS OUT TO GET 'RATS' TAKEN

Six Loaded Revolvers Found in Auto Originally Red, but Recently Painted Black, Police Say.

By the Associated Press.
Six members of the "Jelly Roll" Hogan gang were arrested a few minutes after they left the Hogan residence, 3035 Cass avenue, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. They were in Edward J. (Jelly Roll) Hogan's automobile, originally red, but recently painted black, and there were six loaded revolvers on the floor of the car. Hogan's home was "shot up" by "Egan's Rats" gangsters at 12:10 a. m. today.

HOGAN HOME 'SHOT UP' AGAIN EARLY TODAY

Men Arrested Admit They Were Out to Clean Up Enemy Gang in Revenge for the Shooting.

The gangsters and the automobile were taken to police headquarters, where the prisoners were booked as John (Kink) Connell, Harry Greenberg, Charles Mercuro, Frank Bova, Pat Scanlon and Humbert Costello.

Two automobile loads of gangsters figured in the midnight shooting up of the Hogan domicile.

"The next time they come they'll get more than they are looking for," said "Jelly Roll," who, with a riot gun in his hand, greeted policemen who called at the house to investigate the shooting.

I received a telephone message Monday that something was coming off, and I had the gang planted in the house, all set for business. We had plenty of ammunition and we sat all Monday night and Tuesday night. They caught us napping and there would be a different story to tell."

Doesn't Want Police Protection.
"Do you want police protection?" inquired Night Chief of Police Nally. "Now, the Hogans'll take care of themselves," replied "Jelly Roll."

It will be recalled that the Rev. Father Timothy Dempsey of St. Patrick's Parish, following the occasion when the Hogan home was "shot up" in 1922, summoned the members of the warring gangs to his parochial residence and exacted a pledge from them that they would disarm and pull off the feud.

Subsequent to the shooting, the members of the warring gangs were arrested on numerous occasions when policemen found them carrying revolvers in their automobiles.

Again Broke Out.
The night of Feb. 21, last, after Jacob H. Mackler, lawyer for the Hogan gang, was shot and killed in his automobile at Twelfth and Howard streets, the smoldering feud broke into flame.

The police predicted more gang killings, but Father Dempsey again got the gangsters together and make them promise to "cut it out." Nothing more was heard of the gang war until this morning.

Two of the bullets fired into the Hogan home this morning went through the folding door between the front room and one in which Hogan's mother and father were sleeping. The bullets went over the heads of the elder Hogans and lodged in a wall.

About eight bullets hit the front of the Hogan house and one went through a window in the home of James Kelly, next door, at 3037 Cass avenue. The Hogan boys, including "Jelly Roll," James, who is under a 15-year sentence for robbery, John and Francis, were asleep on the second floor, and when they reached the front windows from which the shots had been fired had disappeared.

"I'll sleep with one eye open from now on," said "Jelly Roll," as the policemen departed from his home this morning. "We meant what we said when we told Father Tim that we would look for no more trouble with the rats," but from today it will be self-preservation first. Let 'em come back and see what they get."

40 ST. LOUISANS TO PROFIT $370,000 IN PIGGLY-WIGGLY

Head of Chain Stores Concern Raised $1,000,000 Here in Preparation for Wall Street Raid.

By the Associated Press.
Forty St. Louisans, who in one day last November contributed $1,000,000 in cash to Clarence Saunders' $10,000,000 Piggly-Wiggly pool, figure today that they have a paper profit of $370,000, or a tenth of Saunders' apparent profit from his spectacular coup in Wall Street.

REST OF $10,000,000 OBTAINED IN SOUTH

One of the Investors Here Says They Really Do Not Know Yet How They Stand in the Coup.

George H. Wearen, manager of the Piggly-Wiggly Missouri Corporation, today related the circumstances under which St. Louisans joined Saunders in the pool.

"Mr. Saunders came to St. Louis from Memphis one day last November," said Wearen. "He held conferences with a number of St. Louisans who had invested money in the St. Louis chain stores. He explained his plan to them. They called in others and in that one day Mr. Saunders got a little more than $1,000,000 from 40 St. Louisans who were to share in any profits resulting from his Wall Street deal."

Raised About $10,000,000.
"Mr. Saunders in all raised about $10,000,000 for his fight," St. Louis was the most northern city contributing. The remainder of the money came from the South.

We St. Louisans investors really do not know where we stand on the deal and will not know until the deal is actually concluded. So far everything is an apparent or paper profit."

Wearen declined to disclose the list of St. Louisans in the pool, but it was learned that among those participating, besides Wearen, were W. C. Sipple Jr., president of the Sipple Adjustment Co., with offices in the Advertising Building, and R. A. Wilson, secretary-treasurer of Barnett & Wilson Investment Co.

Recent Sales Explained.
Saunders recently, in full-page advertisements in St. Louis newspapers, offered Piggly-Wiggly stock to investors at $5 a share, for delivery Dec. 1 at the local offices of the company. The sale here closed last night. Wearen explained that this was a resale of the early stock purchases which Saunders made on the speculative market, and that he was seeking an investment, rather than a speculative market, for his stock.

HOUSEKEEPER ARRESTED IN CASE OF SCHNEIDER MURDER

Mrs. Ruzzi Had Been Released After Being Held Several Days as Material Witness.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 22.—Mrs. Anna Ruzzi, housekeeper for Frederick Schneider, wealthy Bronx contractor, when he was slain in his automobile on Feb. 26, was arrested today on a charge of homicide. She had been released after being held several days as a material witness.

Investigators said they had obtained new evidence connecting her with the crime. Schneider was shot to death at the wheel of his automobile on a lonely Bronx road. Two witnesses told of seeing a woman leaving the scene of the murder, but neither was able to identify her.

125,000 ACRES OF KENTUCKY COAL LAND BOUGHT BY FORD

Between $12,000,000 and $20,000,000 Said to Have Been Invested.

By the Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Ky., March 22.—It became known today that Henry Ford has bought 125,000 acres of coal land on the Kentucky River in Clay and Leslie counties at a price said to run from $12,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Deever was arrested yesterday on charges of desertion.

PIGGLY-WIGGLY HEAD "HELPS HIMSELF" TO $3,700,000 IN WALL ST.

Clarence Saunders Announces in Memphis He Wants Settlement in Stock Coup by 3 P. M. Today on the Basis of $150 a Share.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 22.—Clarence Saunders, 12 years ago an obscure, almost moneyless, iron mine piddler, at his home in Memphis, Tenn., has announced to Wall Street he would "expect a settlement by 3 o'clock today" on the basis of $150 a share. This means he will receive something like $3,700,000.

STOCK STRICKEN FROM EXCHANGE BOARD

Former Mine Puddler Brings Stock Market to Its Knees by Buying 198,872 Shares of Total of 200,000 Outstanding.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 22.—Clarence Saunders, 12 years ago an obscure, almost moneyless, iron mine piddler, at his home in Memphis, Tenn., has announced to Wall Street he would "expect a settlement by 3 o'clock today" on the basis of $150 a share. This means he will receive something like $3,700,000.

Back of his laconic ultimatum is the story of a spectacular coup in Piggly-Wiggly stock that will be long remembered by all traders. Pitting his wits against those of the seasoned speculators of the stock market, Saunders, founder and now president of Piggly-Wiggly Stores, Inc., has scored apparently a sweeping victory.

"After 3 o'clock tomorrow," he said, last night, "my price will be $250 a share, even if it takes the court to decide. The amount of shares still short on delivery to me is more than 25,000, and there are still thousands of additional shares due on margin accounts to others, which must be liquidated in the settlement."

While dozens of its members were scurrying around in quest of stock to cover their short accounts, the New York Stock Exchange this afternoon by action of its Board of Governors, struck Piggly-Wiggly Stores Inc. permanently from the list of securities traded in on the floor.

Started as Iron Puddler.
The story of how the former iron piddler brought Wall Street to its knees goes back many years, but the genesis of the present coup began last winter when James W. Elliott's Manhattan Piggly-Wiggly Corporation, operating under a franchise from Saunders, failed.

Wall Street heard of it as a prelude to hammer the stock. It dropped to $40 a share. Saunders was forced to buy to protect his company. The speculators continued raiding his stock and then came the surprise last Tuesday. It advanced 54 points and kept jumping. Later it was learned Saunders had been advised by Jesse Livermore, master manipulator.

Brokers are now quoting the shares at from $100 to $115. Some 500 shares were sold around par over the counter today.

Saunders "Never Again" to Head Company With Stock on New York Exchange.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 22.—"As long as I live," said Clarence Saunders of Piggly-Wiggly Stores, Inc., last night, "I will not again be president of any company that has its stock traded in on the New York Stock Exchange—where the gambler and the speculator have such free rein to ply their trades."

While receiving the congratulations of his friends on his escape in Wall Street, he became reared and told of his struggle to success. He is just 42.

"I started as a piddler in the iron mines of Birmingham, Ala.," he said. "It wasn't very remunerative and I looked about for opportunity. I decided to go into the grocery business. I got a job in a store at Clarksville at $15 a week."

It was there I met Austin Peay, who is now Governor of Tennessee. He has remained my steadfast friend. His advice has been of inestimable value to me."

It was on Gov. Peay's advice that he moved to Memphis after he had saved a few hundred dollars. He had ideas about the grocery business. He opened a wholesale store. Most of his buying was done on credit. He believed in small profits and quick turnovers. A chain of stores was started. Too much credit was extended to retail buyers and the project failed.

But Saunders wasn't discouraged.

NEW YORK BANKER HELD ON SHIP REACHING NAPLES

Francesco Tisbo, Charged With Embezzlement, and Wife Are Arrested.

By the Associated Press.
NAPLES, March 22.—Francesco Tisbo, the New York steamship ticket agent and private banker, wanted in that city with his two brothers on grand larceny charges, arrived here on the steamer Tacoma from New York today and was detained with his wife on board that vessel. Money to the amount of $69,000 lire (normally $11,550) was found in his baggage.

The Tisbos recently disappeared from New York and no trace has been found of deposits made with them said to total $2,000,000.

Army Air Service Offered for Disaster Relief Work

Government Planes Made Available to Red Cross for Transportation of Personnel and Supplies in Times of Emergency.

The air services of the army, navy and Postoffice Department have been made available to the American Red Cross for service in its disaster relief operations.

Secretary of War Weeks some time ago advised the Red Cross that in case of emergency the Chief of Air Service of the army at Washington would at once arrange for the transportation of disaster relief personnel in airplanes to the scene of disaster upon telegraphic request from duly accredited agents of the Red Cross.

Recently at the suggestion of the National Aeronautic Association, Chairman John Barton Payne received offers of similar co-operation.

FEDERAL LIQUOR INDICTMENT AGAINST ALDERMAN DISMISSED
Action in Case of H. W. Uhlmeier Due to Findings on Raffle Without Search Warrants.

An indictment of Alderman Harry W. Uhlmeier of the Fifteenth Ward, charging violation of the Volstead act, was dismissed with leave to restate by Special Assistant Attorney General DeLoach yesterday in Federal Court.

His action DeLoach said, was because of repeated rulings of Judge Paris that a search warrant was necessary in raids such as the police, led by the Rev. W. C. Shupp, then superintendent of the Antislavery League, made upon the Acme Drayage Co., 2414-16 Menard street, on last June 15. Uhlmeier is secretary of the company. Large numbers of barrels filled with what was apparently beer of illegal alcohol contents were found in the place.

The Rev. Mr. Shupp, prior to the raid, applied for a search warrant, but Assistant United States District Attorney Ely refused one on the ground that the Rev. Mr. Shupp had no evidence as to the contents of the barrels. Dr. Shupp then applied to the police and the raid ensued.

Two charges against Ernst A. Koerner, proprietor of a cafe at 488 Washington avenue, also were dropped because of Koerner's physical condition. Koerner recently was released of a six months' jail sentence for violation of the liquor laws upon report of a physician appointed by the court that his physical condition was extremely bad.

Organization Here Will Lend Money for Payment of Physicians, Dentists and Druggists.

A medical credit bureau has been organized by 600 physicians, dentists and pharmacists to catalog the ability to pay and the propensity to pay of persons applying to them for service. In addition, the bureau will lend money for the payment of physicians, dentists or drug store bills on a plan which gives a year for repayment. It will make collections.

G. F. Bentrup, former secretary of the St. Louis Association of "Credit Men," will be manager of the bureau. Offices have been established in the Federal Reserve Bank Building. The announced capitalization of the bureau is $100,000 with a minimum surplus of $20,000.

"Physicians heretofore have had no protection against an over-extension of credit," Bentrup said yesterday.

Packing Mergers Not Completed.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Ill., March 22.—Armour & Co. have not yet taken over the packing interest of Morris & Co. and when the deal is completed there will be no general dissolution of the Morris organization. F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co., said in a statement yesterday, denying reports that the deal was finished and that 70 per cent of Morris employees were to be discharged.

Negro Jumps From Second Story Window.
Moses Williams, 65, a negro, sufered internal injuries and lacerations of the body at 2 a. m. today when he jumped from a second floor window of a rooming house at 2141 Laclede avenue, when smoke from a fire that had started on that floor filled his room. Other roomers in the house escaped without injury. The damage was estimated at $1000.

Division managers of the Red Cross have been instructed to exercise care in originating requests for airplane transportation, which will be used only in cases of unquestioned necessity.

The St. Louis Chapter has available for disaster relief purposes a complete 100-bed hospital unit, in storage at Washington University Medical School, which is in shape to be set up on short notice. It also has a large reserve corps of volunteers, subject to call at any time. The proximity of Scott Field to St. Louis will be of value in transporting quickly emergency personnel and supplies from St. Louis should disasters occur in the St. Louis district.

RED PEPPER HEAT STOPS BACKACHE

The heat of red peppers takes the "ouch" from a sore, lame back. It can not hurt you, and it certainly ends the torture at once.
When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub, and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers.

Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

HEAD STUFFED BY CATARRH OR COLD?

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

Flow good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.

THINGS ARE SETTLING IN IRELAND, KING GEORGE SAYS

A British Ruler Declares He Has Done His Best for Settlement and Will Do Anything He Can.

LIVERPOOL, March 22.—King George arrived here yesterday on his way to Knowlsey, Lancashire, where he is to be the guest of the Earl of Derby. While here he had a conversation with Alderman Harford, Irish Nationalist leader.

"Already things are settling in Ireland," said the King to the Alderman.

mag. "I can assure you I have done my best toward a settlement and that I shall do everything further I can in that direction."

"We must be patient," replied Harford, to which the King assented.

Damage Suit Backfires.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., March 22.—Charles C. Hacker of Council Bluffs, Ia., who sued the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Co. for $4150 following a collision between his automobile truck and a locomotive near York, Neb., was ordered by a District Court jury to pay the railroad company $1 for damage to the engine.

SIX MONTHS AND FINE FOR DRIVER IN AUTO FATALITY

Charles H. Stein, Whose Machine Killed Girl, Found Guilty by Jury of Criminal Carelessness.

TESTIMONY HE PASSED STREET CAR ON LEFT

Miss Laura Amsinger Died Day After Being Struck at Fourth and Locust Last August.

Charles H. Stein of 2507 South Eighteenth street, a stereotypist employed by the St. Louis Star, must serve six months in the Workhouse and pay a $500 fine for criminal carelessness and breach of traffic regulations in operating his automobile in a manner that resulted in the fatal injury of Miss Laura Amsinger, 18 years old, 2527A University street, last Aug. 31.

This sentence, imposed by a jury in Circuit Judge Grimm's court yesterday, was the seventh penalty carrying a Workhouse term given carelessly automobile drivers in the last three months.

Two chauffeurs were the witnesses upon whom the prosecution chiefly relied to prove its case against Stein.

Testimony of Chauffeurs.

They were waiting in their trucks for traffic to clear at Fourth and Locust streets at 7:45 a. m. the day of the accident and testified to the following facts:

Miss Amsinger alighted from an Olive street car on Fourth street at Locust and crossed in front of the car toward the west side of Fourth street.

Stein turned his automobile from behind a truck which was following the street car and ran north on Fourth street on the wrong side of the car. His machine struck Miss Amsinger when she was half way to the curb and dragged her 20 feet.

The chauffeurs, Albert Braik of 2520 Linden street, and George Dieter of 3320 West avenue, told the jury that Stein was traveling about 25 miles an hour.

Miss Amsinger suffered a fracture of the skull and internal injuries from which she died the next day at the city hospital. She had been employed by Bradstreet's Commercial Agency in the Equitable Building and was on her way to work at the time of the accident.

The Driver's Story.

Stein, on the witness stand, admitted he attempted to pass on the wrong side of the street car, but said he was obliged to do this to avoid collision with the truck, which halted just in front of him.

"The morning was drizzly and the pavement was wet," he testified. "I followed the truck north on Fourth street and did not see the street car ahead. The truck suddenly pulled to the right and stopped. My brakes wouldn't hold and the only thing I could do was to pull to the left. I saw the street car then, but it was too late. Miss Amsinger walked in front of my machine."

Assistant Circuit Attorney Fish, in summarizing for the prosecution, declared Stein had confessed breaking the law and that a substantial punishment should be given him as a warning to other drivers. Defense counsel contended Stein had no choice in the matter under the circumstances and therefore it was an accident.

Stein has filed motion for a new trial. He did not furnish bond last night and was taken to jail. He is 41 years old, is married and has three children.

THEORY OF QUEBEC CHURCH FIRES

City Official Believes They Were Due to Faulty Heating Apparatus.

By the Associated Press.

QUEBEC, March 22.—Director of Public Works Quin yesterday declared his belief that the recent outbreaks of fire in many churches and religious buildings in Quebec was due to faulty installation of heating apparatus, and not to incendiaries as has been hinted.

Missouri Typographical Conference.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—The tenth annual meeting of the Missouri Typographical Conference will be held here April 14 and 15. One hundred and fifty delegates are expected from the 31 affiliated unions in this and surrounding states. Included in the list of nearby cities that are expected to send delegates are Omaha, Des Moines, Indianapolis, Waterloo, Ia., Kansas City, St. Louis, Topeka and St. Joseph. The unions are composed of workers in the printing and mailing trades, and the Missouri Valley district takes in five states.

To Use St. Charles Rifle Range.

The St. Charles rifle range will be used this summer for target practice by the Sixth Infantry, stationed at Jefferson Barracks. Instead of the range at Arcadia, Mo. This decision was made several days ago, following a conference between Col. Frank Halstead, in charge of National Guard affairs, Seventh Corps Area; Col. Harry A. Eaton and Col. Harry E. Yates, commanding officer Jefferson Barracks.

THOUSANDS STAND IN SNOW AT FUNERAL OF BISHOP BURKE

Three Archbishops, Fifteen Bishops and 200 Priests at Services at St. Joseph, Mo.
By the Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 22.—Three archbishops, 15 bishops and 200 priests attended the funeral services at the Cathedral here today for Bishop Maurice F. Burke of the St. Joseph Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church. Bishop Burke died last Saturday.
Thousands unable to get in the Cathedral stood for several hours in snow. Prelates in their clerical robes marched from the Cathedral rectory to the church between a long line of fourth degree Knights of Columbus in full dress. The crowds in the streets were so great that the police had difficulty in keeping a passageway open.

Solenn pontifical requiem mass was sung by Bishop Francis Giffilan, who has been coadjutor in St. Joseph since Nov. 15 last, and who succeeds to the bishopric. The sermon was preached by Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis. Archbishop Hart of Omaha and Archbishop Deane of Dubuque were present also. There were representatives from Cheyenne, Wyo., Bishop Burke's former see, and Joliet, Ill., where he was a parish priest 40 years ago.
So many clergymen were in attendance that an entire section of the Cathedral was reserved for priests and only archbishops and bishops were permitted in the sanctuary. The music was by a choir of monks from the Benedictine Abbey at Conception, Mo.

The body of Bishop Burke was buried in the priests' plot in Mount Olivet, the Catholic Cemetery of St. Joseph.
The City Hall and public library and many business houses were closed during the hours of the funeral.
Boy Hurt in School Yard.
Robert Telsky, 11 years old, of 4924 Liburn avenue, suffered concussion of the brain and injuries to the back yesterday when he fell 10 feet into an arway in the Mark Twain School, Ruskin and Thekla avenues, while playing in the school yard after school had been dismissed for the day. He was taken to his home.

NEUN AND CURRIE BOTH HEARD AT WARD MEETINGS

Democratic Candidate for Presidency of Board of Aldermen Again Attacks
Republican Opponent.

DISCUSSES TAX LEVY FOR THE BONDED DEBT

Neun Asserts He Is Running on Past Record of Achievements of His Party in St. Louis.

With the municipal election 10 days away, and Democratic candidates for aldermanic offices centering their fight on appeals for "minority representation" and onslaughts on Republican "machine" methods, Republican organization workers express no apprehension over the outcome. They are confident the organization, as in the past, through dominance in the city, will elect the entire Republican ticket. Republican committeemen have been giving the customary exhortation to precinct workers. It is said, and urging all of the city employees to get out and work. This, the politicians say, is to get out the full organization vote, and not through fear of Democratic successes.

Favored by Apathy.
Apathy of the public toward municipal elections, it is pointed out, tends to the advantage of the Republican ticket, backed by organization strength, and the disadvantage of other tickets. Less than 14 per cent of the registered vote of the city was cast in the primary election, March 8, and a light vote is predicted in the municipal election April 3.

Dwight D. Currie, Democratic candidate for the presidency of the Board of Aldermen, is carrying on the principal campaign for his ticket, which includes candidates for Aldermen from the 14 even-numbered wards. J. W. Byrnes, Democratic nominee for Mayor against Mayor Kiel in the 1921 campaign, has joined Currie in the attack on Republican control of the city administration.

Currie was the principal speaker last night before the Twelfth Ward Democratic organization, at Security Hall, 7800A Michigan avenue. He attacked answers made by his Republican opponent, Walter J. Neun, former chairman of the Republican City Committee, to questions by Currie seeking Neun's views on a fourth term for Mayor Kiel, minority representation in city government, and whether tax levies for the bonded debt sinking fund were being made as the law directs.

Neun made public his answers yesterday, stating, as is known, that there is no mayoralty campaign in progress at the present time, and that he is not a member of the Republican ticket and platform. With regard to the sinking fund query, he said this matter was under the direction of the Comptroller, and such questions should be directed to the Comptroller.

Currie asserted Neun was evading the questions. He attacked Neun's answer on the tax levies, recalling the charter provides the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has control over the sinking fund. The Mayor, Comptroller and President of the Board of Aldermen comprise the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Currie said "the machine" has issued the rallying cry to its pack of job holders, to fight against minority representation in city affairs.

Byrnes asserted Neun had not given specific answers to Currie's questions, because "he fears to step on the toes of fellow Republican 'machine' members." Byrnes charged the sinking fund for retirement of the bonded debt is $2,000,000 short of what should be in it, because of levies smaller than are directed by the charter.

Explanation by Nolte.
The Comptroller recently explained this levy was reduced in 1919 and 1920 because the tax rate could be lowered and still enable the city to have the required amounts available for retirement of bonds, when outstanding bonds fall due. The Comptroller produced a legal opinion from bond attorneys stating the charter provision was "directory," rather than "mandatory."

Neun addressed Twenty-second Ward Republicans last night at a meeting at Natural Bridge and Euclid avenues, declaring "I am running on the past record of achievements of the Republican party in St. Louis." City affairs have been conducted by the Republican administration in a manner worthy of public confidence, he said.
"There has been no breath of scandal or suspicion of dishonesty in its management of public affairs," he added. Neun did not comment on the questions propounded by Currie.

Noted Equestrienne Dies.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 22.—Miss Ruth Moody, 31 years old, noted equestrienne, died here Tuesday night after a two-day illness from pneumonia and influenza. The body will be removed to the home of her father, retired manufacturer, at Cleveland, O., for burial.

LIQUOR SENTENCE OF TWO YEARS

Defendant Also Fined $10,000 and Costs of His Trial.
By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., March 22.—Carrying out a threat made several hours before—that the law's limit would be meted out to all liquor law violators found guilty after entering pleas of not guilty—Federal Judge John M. Killits of Toledo, sitting here yesterday, sentenced John Stener of Pittsburgh to two years to Atlanta penitentiary, fining him the maximum of $10,000 and in addition ordered him to pay all court costs.

Stener was indicted with Hyman Darling of Pittsburgh, Ben Rudner of Canton and four others on June 2, 1921, on charges of conspiracy to violate the Federal prohibition law. All were convicted.

Many a Square Meal isn't square with you

FOOD robbery is often disguised. Vital essentials of diet are left out and the defect hidden by quantity, looks and taste.

Phosphorus is a food element necessary to the body. Nature provides it in her good grains—but extra "refinement" in the milling processes throws it away.

Grape-Nuts supplies phosphorus as part of the well-rounded, perfected nourishment from wheat and mated barley—together with iron, vitamin, and a high content of protein lacking in modern food.

Grape-Nuts with cream or milk is completely and soundly nourishing; so crisp and delicious that every member of your family will greatly enjoy it for breakfast, lunch or supper.

Ready to serve in a moment. Order from your grocer today.

Southern Pine Officers
NEW ORLEANS, March 22.—The Southern Pine Association concluded its eighth annual convention here yesterday with the election of officers, selecting John H. Kirby, Houston, Tex., to serve another term as president of the organization. Other officers elected include John H. Lucas, Kansas City, Mo., chief counsel. The directors include Charles S. Keith and John H. Lucas, Kansas City.

PAROLED MAN WHO INSPIRED CONFIDENCE GETS THEFT TERM
Robber Referred to by Pardon Board Member as "Ex-Convict in Whom I Believe."

Hugo Plaujanin, recently referred to by J. Kelly Pool of the State Board of Pardon and Parole, as "one ex-convict in whom I believe," was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for highway robbery by a jury in Circuit Judge Grimm's Court yesterday.

Testimony was that Plaujanin, with two other men, held up John L. Gander of 1949 A. Utah street, Nov. 5, and robbed him of a watch and other articles valued at $47.

Plaujanin had served 10 years of a life sentence for murder when he was paroled by Gov. Hyde, Oct. 21, 1921. Following his arrest in connection with the holdup of Gander, Pool wrote from Jefferson City to Chief of Police O'Brien, urging the Chief to "be very certain the officers are right" in the case. Pool stated in his letter that the murder of which Plaujanin had been convicted was not connected with any act of robbery. "He is one ex-convict in whom I believe," wrote Pool.

Plaujanin and Louis Beeken were pointed out to the police by Gander, a few minutes after the holdup, which occurred in Lafayette Park. The third man escaped. Beeken is yet to be tried. Plaujanin's defense was that he was a victim of mistaken identity. He testified he had been at Eagle's Hall, Jefferson and Lafayette avenues, and was walking near the park, "taking air for a headache."

MEDICAL COLLEGE BILL FAILS
Measure Required That Schools Must Be Reputable.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—The Senate bill providing that graduates of none but "reputable" medical colleges may take examinations for license to practice medicine in Missouri failed of passage in the House yesterday. The word "reputable" as a qualification for medical colleges was stricken from the law two years ago.

Two medical colleges in Kansas City and one in St. Louis had been denied recognition as "reputable" colleges by the State Board of Health, which claimed that their course of study did not meet certain requirements. The present bill was introduced in an effort to restore to the Board of Health the power of determining whether colleges should be recognized. The bill was opposed in the House yesterday by members from rural counties.

The Perfect Loaf

This trademark on every wrapper.

The popularity of "CAP-SHEAF," the whole-wheat bread, has been nationally established on the perfection of this wholesome and delicious bread.
It is a perfect loaf, because we grind every grain of wheat on the premises where it is baked in coke-heated ovens.
The demand for "CAP-SHEAF" extends from coast to coast. It is the original and genuine. To know the deli-ciousness of genuine whole-wheat bread, eat "CAP-SHEAF" which is baked at the mill.

"Made to Walk On"

Johnson's Floor Varnish is unexcelled for soft and hardwood floors, linoleum and oilcloth. It gives a beautiful, high luster—is very easy to apply and has good body. Dries dust-free in two hours and hard overnight. Has great elasticity and very pale in color. Johnson's Floor Varnish will stand all reasonable tests
—is absolutely waterproof.

JOHNSON'S FLOOR VARNISH

JOHNSON'S FLOOR VARNISH is tough and durable. It gives a beautiful, high gloss which will not chip, check, mar, blister or scratch white. It is very pale, so can be used on the lightest floors and linoleum.

JOHNSON'S FLOOR VARNISH is splendid for use on tables, chairs, woodwork, trim, etc. It will rejuvenate the whole interior of your home. Johnson's Floor Varnish is of the same high quality as Johnson's Floor Wax.

BILL AGAINST FRATERNITIES IN HIGH SCHOOLS FAILS

Senate Gives Only Six of Required
18 Votes to Roney Measure.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 22.—
The Senate yesterday afternoon killed the Roney bill to prohibit the organization of fraternities and sororities among high-school pupils.
In support of the measure, Senator
Proctor of Kansas City and Senator Shoagress of Cedar County said public school fraternities resulted in cliques in the schools, and that secret societies were the cause of much lack of school discipline. Senator Farris opposed the bill on the ground that it was an infringement upon the rights of parents to control the conduct of their children outside school hours.
Senator McCawley, supporting the bill, said that recently high-school fraternities in Joplin gave dinners at a hotel, one dinner being a $25-a-plate affair, and the other even more expensive. Senator Proctor said a high-school fraternity in Kansas City gave a dinner dance at the Muehlebach Hotel and that boys and girls from the ages of 12 to 16 became intoxicated.
"Where there no chaperons?"
asked Farris. "Where in the world were the parents of these children?"
The blame is on them, not on some innocent little society the children organized."
The bill received only six votes. It needed 18 to pass.

Sour Stomach

Best Relieved by Chewing a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet—No Water Needed—Carry Them Along in Your Pocket.

What the average person needs in this day and age is the balanced stomach sweetener that he can take at any time, at any place and get relief right away. This effect is had with one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. No matter what you eat or drink, if the stomach sours, gets gassy, seems to bloat and press against the heart, if it belches and heartburn makes you miserable, try these tablets. The moment they reach the stomach they neutralize the acids, they give the stomach the alkaline effect it is craving for and thus you soon feel good, the stomach is settled and the faults of indigestion are corrected. You may now eat pie, cheese, sausage, pickles, if you get a 60 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets today at any drug store.

RUSSIAN STATE BANK
BULGING WITH GOLD

Soviet Institution Accumulates $10,000,000 in Rubles and Bullion in First Year.

MOSCOW, March 22.—Ten million dollars worth of gold, in Russian rubles and glistening ingots of bullion, are heaped up in the treasure vaults of the Russian State Bank, the results of one year's activities of this soviet financial institution.

Twelve months ago it started doing business with a capital of depreciated paper rubles. Under the management of old-time Russian bankers, who never hesitated to take big profits, and urged along the same lines by the national necessity to accumulate real money, the bank has been adding daily to its reserve fund.

How Profits Are Made. An American, for example, takes a perfectly good check for $500 to this bank to be cashed. He waits an hour and receives a slip of paper bearing figures showing that the cashier will hand him $475 for the check. Thereupon he can easily understand how some of these profits have been made. The State Bank has a monopoly on foreign exchange, but it will pay in actual American or English currency for the checks it receives, and the average foreigner much prefers to pay 5 per cent and receive real money, instead of an armload of soviet paper.

Another advantageous practice of the bank is to change dollars into rubles paying practically the same rate as the money changers on the illegal bourse. The difference may be only a few thousand rubles on the dollar, but it is enough to add to the constant trickle of profits to the State Bank's till.

At the beginning of 1922 it was estimated that about 300,000,000 gold rubles were still in the hands of the peasants and other private persons in Russia, having been buried or stowed away in old socks against a rainy day.

State Agents Sent to Bourses. The opening of legal banking operations, and the frank winking on the part of Government authorities at operations on the so-called illegal bourses, have coaxed many millions of this gold from its hiding places. A considerable portion has found its way to the State Bank, which sends its own agents to these illegal bourses and offers for this gold, and for foreign currency, higher prices than the private traders can afford.

For this the bank, of course, pays only paper money, of which it seems to have an inexhaustible supply.

SENATE CUTS $10,000,000 CONTINGENT FUND $1,000,000

Hyde Now Has Task of Reducing Proposed Appropriation $1,000,000 More.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—Carrying out a caucus plan, the Senate last night adopted the committee amendments to the $10,000,000 contingent appropriation bill, reducing it to approximately $9,000,000, and passed on to Gov. Hyde the responsibility for cutting appropriations at least an additional $1,000,000.

It is the understanding that the Senate Democrats have definitely decided to give the Governor the job of making appropriations and receipts come out even. So perfect were the arrangements for action that in less than two hours the Senate adopted 85 amendments, involving a $1,000,000 cut in the contingent bill. They gave the Republicans to understand that no other changes would be permitted. Two attempts by Republicans to change other features of the measure than those allowed by the committee amendments were voted down by a strict party vote, and the Republicans, realizing the futility of further attempts, accepted the bill.

The measure contains no appropriation for the Tax Commission, and if the Governor vetoes the bill creating the office of Director of Revenue and Disbursements, there will be no State agency for the collection of the $2,800,000 of corporation franchise taxes during the next two years.

It appears that the Legislature will complete its work tomorrow, though the actual adjournment will be delayed until Monday to give the clerical force time to complete its work.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of the people, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Russia and Disarmament.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ONE of the impediments, not to say obstacles, to disarmament in Europe is the red army of Utopian Russia. The Post-Dispatch, commenting upon Debs' admonition to the nations to disarm. Can it be possible that you do not know better than this?

The fact is, of course, that Soviet Russia has wasted heaven and all her neighbors for three years with pleas and offers to disarm. Have you forgotten Genoa, where Tschitcherine created such a scandal by immediately proposing equal disarmament? Have you forgotten how France immediately raised the point of order that no such discussion was on the program? Did you not hear of the recent disarmament conference called by Moscow, at which Soviet Russia proposed to her neighbors that she and they all reduce armaments proportionately—a proposal which Poland, with French support, rejected, thus causing the failure of the conference?

Have you already forgotten that Russia, at the time of the Washington conference for limitation of armaments, made proposals for actual and universal disarmament—an ill-mannered and undiplomatic proposition which statesmen chose to ignore? Disarmament? Why, Soviet Russia has made no international guarantee of herself by insisting upon it. You could not have hit upon a more palpable absurdity. Take care not to make yourself as ridiculous as the European correspondents. The New York Times, who explains one week that the menace of the red army forces France to keep a million men under arms, and the next week presents the authoritative opinion that the red army has no military value, and could be routed by one French division.

COMMON SENSE.

Reason and Faith.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I HAVE read a letter from one of your readers referring to the remarks made by Clergyman Grant of New York. I don't think his remarks are important at all, but I do think Christians had better stay out of the ring of reason and stay in the audience of faith.

All liberal thinkers cease to believe where history leaves off and legend begins, and so any use of the Bible as authority for statement or belief immediately disqualifies any participant in a scientific discussion.

"TORY."

They Can't Be Enforced.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN reading your editorial of the 12th, and Senator McCawley's complaint the following day, will say that in my opinion you are right and the Senator is wrong. I am a Prosecuting Attorney of one of the lower counties and a conservative prohibitionist. I believe in the eighteenth amendment, which reads: "The manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors is prohibited;" this means clearly that any person manufacturing and selling intoxicants is violating its provisions, but the radical element of prohibition, composed mainly of ministers, has a delusion that they could prevent intoxicants altogether by very drastic enforcement laws, therefore they substituted in the enforcement the word "or" for "and," which then reads: "The manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquor is prohibited."

After several years they came to the conclusion that the law was not drastic enough to prevent its violation, so they prepared the McCawley bill in the delusion that this law would prevent its violation. Now, if Senator McCawley is not afflicted with dementia prohi, why pick out one law from the statutes for more severe punishment for its violation, and if this prevents the violation of one law, why not apply it to all the laws in the statute books?

Take, for instance, murder in the first degree. The punishment is death on the gallows. Why not make it read as follows: "Any person found guilty of murder in the first degree shall be skinned alive with red-hot tongs and placed in a pan and fried over a fire until life is extinct?" This ought to get them, don't you think, Senator? Anyone contemplating murder would think twice before laying themselves liable to the above punishment.

But this would not prevent murder, and it would make it impossible for the State to secure a conviction of murder in the first degree, as no jury would inflict the above punishment on any person.

A PROSECUTING ATTORNEY.

For the One-Armed Man.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ON March 13, in your "Letters from the People" column, there was printed a letter from W. C. Richardson, under the caption, "The Man With One Hand." We would like very much to help Mr. Richardson if he is in distress and unable to secure employment. Ask him to communicate with me at Olive 239, or call at 222 Central National Bank Building.

OPPOSITION IN THE CITY HALL.

The Republican voters of the city are paying taxes the same as are the Democrats. Those of them who are good partisans, of course, would find it to their pleasure to see every Democrat kept out of the city hall. But is their trust in the Republican machine so unquestioning that they would rather, for the pride of party, see a solid phalanx of Republican control than the introduction of a Democrat in a prominent position where he might discover and challenge misuse of the city's funds collected from Democrats and Republicans alike?

This is the question which intelligent, disinterested Republican voters must ask of themselves. The Republican machine has already asked itself the question whether it wants the cutting of the political melon and the unchecked disposal of the bond funds interfered with by a dissenting party voice. Naturally, it has answered that it does not. It is not interested in checks and challenges. It has sent the word down the line of some 7000 city employees that the security of their jobs depends upon retaining in the city hall an unbroken front of Republican officials. The wives, sisters, other relatives and friends of these employees will multiply the employee vote several times. This, added to the usually solid colored vote, is the handicap which opposition to the city hall machine must overcome in the remainder of the voting field.

It is not to be expected, under these circumstances, that the continued control of the Republicans for the next two years can be stopped. It is hardly to be expected that the Republican wall can be penetrated at any point, but it should not be regarded as hopeless. Dwight D. Currie, Democratic candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, is the one best hope of opposition in the Board of Aldermen and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. His vote would count for nothing, it is true, but his voice, we believe, would count for something as a protest appealing to public sentiment against extravagance, favoritism and foul play should any of these be attempted. The sordid appeal of the machine to city employees to go get the bacon for the protection of their livelihood should be a challenge to every disinterested citizen of either party to vote for an opposition candidate who can let the public know what is going on in the chambers of the city government. What is going on in the expenditure of $87,000,000 of bond proceeds must be the concern of every taxpayer and every rent payer.

CAPITALISM INDICTED.

Something new has occurred in English parliamentary history—a formal debate on the relative merits of capitalism and socialism. The departure was a motion offered by Philip Snowden for "the supersession of the capitalist system by an industrial and social order based on public ownership and democratic control of the instruments of production and distribution." In support of the motion Mr. Snowden made a speech which, according to the special cable to the Post-Dispatch, "surprised the House by its moderation." Confession was disclaimed. Socialism, the speaker insisted, had nothing in common with bolshevism, but was, in truth, its very antithesis. And the reasons for the proposed new order were, in the words, the failure of the capitalist system.

The figures, as given by Mr. Snowden, constitute a grave indictment. He said that from 1874 to 1908 wages had increased by only 10 per cent, while incomes had increased twelvefold. He described the extremes of poverty and incredible riches. He said that 58 per cent of the wealth of the country was owned by 2-1/2 per cent of the population. "How can you defend a system," he asked, "which, while claiming a monopoly of the function of finding employment, is unable to find work for 1,500,000 unemployed?"

That the socialistic scheme advocated by Snowden would fail wretchedly could not be doubted. Replies to that effect were made. Various disadvantages of the socialistic order were pointed out. But such rebuttal does not ameliorate the conditions Snowden complains of. The question is: Is the present system guilty as accused? That it is guilty on the score of unemployment is familiar knowledge. But how about the paltry gain in wages, as compared with the opulent returns of capital? And is Snowden's statement as to the concentration of wealth in the hands of a few correct?

Those are grave accusations. They connote serious conditions. They go far towards justifying the judgment that under the capitalist system intolerable conditions have grown up. It is no answer to say that socialism would do no better. When conditions become intolerable change is inevitable. That is the challenging fact which confronts the industrial system in sturdy, conservative old England.

HUGHES ON RUSSIA.

The United States cannot recognize a Government or find a sound basis of international intercourse with it so long as it repudiates its debts, confiscates property without compensation and rejects all principles of honor, honesty and good faith in its policy and dealings, or that further seeks to overthrow the Governments of other nations not in accord with its own form and policy.

This in substance is what Secretary Hughes told the delegates of the Women's Committee for the Recognition of Russia. Mr. Hughes said the friendly spirit of the American people towards the Russian people and our desire to help them had been shown by the lavish outlay of money and service to save that stricken people from starvation, and that the American Government not only had no desire "to interfere with the internal concerns of Russia or with their right to develop their own institutions, but such interference would be futile. The salvation of Russia cannot be contrived outside and injected."

Secretary Hughes' position is impregnable within reason. There is no answer to his statement. The long and short of it is that it is impossible to deal with an outlaw on any basis of trust and friendly intercourse. The principles and policies of the Soviet Government make the Russian Government a pariah whose lack of good faith and repudiation of obligation forbid international intercourse.

A CALL TO ST. LOUIS SENATORS.

The Missouri House, by a vote of 78 to 6, has passed the Roos-Rollins bill, which would make laundries subject to the antitrust laws of the State. The bill was opposed by Representative Frank R. Smith, who failed to state the reason for his opposition.

The report of the Post-Dispatch correspondent is discouraging, however, as to the chances of the measure in the Senate. Because of the congested calendar it is believed the bill cannot be acted upon before adjournment.

The St. Louis Senators can secure action on it if they so desire. The vote in the House shows there is no state-wide opposition and that all that is required is perhaps 10 minutes to go through the formality of a vote. Can the St. Louis Senators not get 10 minutes for St. Louis? Are the people of all the cities of the State to be walked upon and to remain the victims of extortion because the Senate cannot find 10 minutes to pass this bill to complete the antimonopoly law of the State?

St. Louis representatives, all but one, have a record of affirmative performance on this measure. It is now up to St. Louis Senators to make a stir for St. Louis. Meanwhile the constituents of Representative Smith of the First District should demand to know what is the matter with Representative Smith.

MUSSOLINI'S OLD-FASHIONED ADVICE.

In his brief talk to the Congress of the International Chambers of Congress, now in session in Rome, Premier Mussolini preached an old-fashioned doctrine. It is his conviction, he said, that the State should not undertake economic functions, and that, after a war crisis, a Government "must give free play to private enterprise and forego any measures of state control or state paternalism."

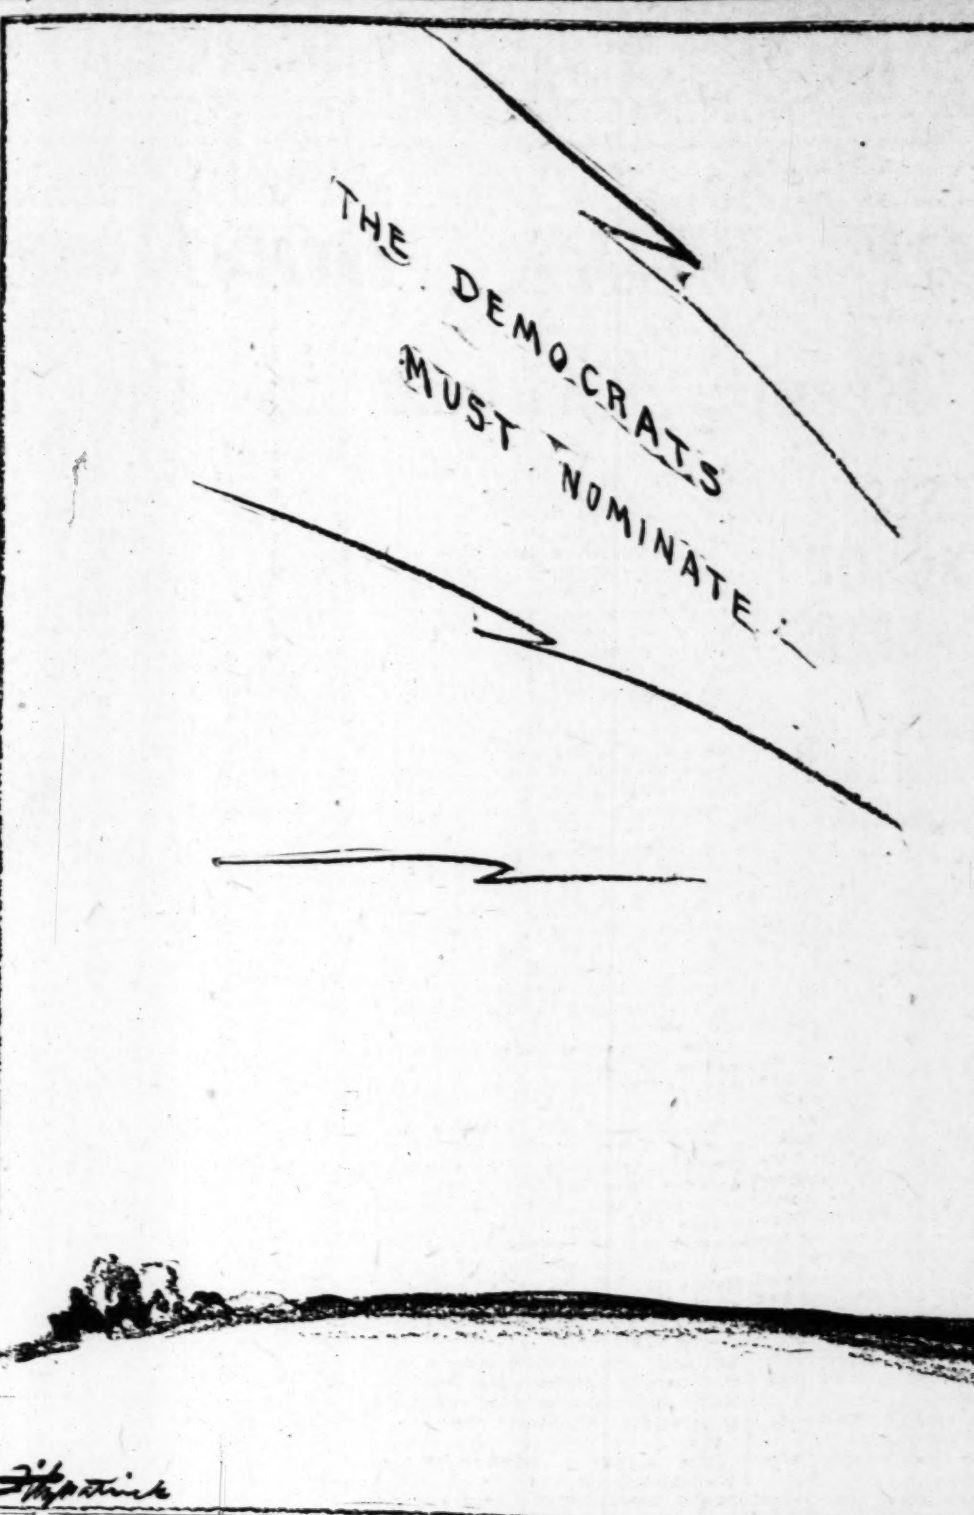

There is, of course, a peculiar temptation, after a war, for Governments to assume paternalistic poses and prerogatives. In the conduct of war Governments are vested with extraordinary powers. Such powers are granted, to be sure, to meet an emergency, but Governments, like individuals, are loath to surrender powers once exercised. And the circumstances of reconstruction, following war, invite and seem to justify Governments in adventuring into numerous benevolent and paternalistic enterprises. Further, there is usually a body of clamorous opinion urging such a course.

It is a dangerous course. Paternalism does not work out in practice. Whether tentative in character, such as a nagging supervision of industry, or a bold sweep to substitute communism for capitalism, such as the Russian experiment, paternalism is a failure. It always will fail until human nature advances far beyond its present state of imperfection.

Yet in the face of the industrial order of today, so vast and complicated, and the opportunities for tyranny and extortion which organized and unscrupulous wealth enjoys, it is impossible for Government to close its eyes and fold its hands in passive, trusting inactivity. What Governments can and should do is to draw up the rules for industry, revising them as evolution requires, and see to it that business plays the game according to the rules.

SONNETS TO A LOWBROWED LOVE.

(V— and final.)

YOU ask, dear Dumbelle, why these many days I have been so penniless for you? Well, here it is, the last one, kid. We're through!

We're standing at the parting of the ways.

The fact is that you bore me to salt tears. What though I loved your jaunty flapper grace

I found no brains behind your pretty face. Nor stray ideas up above your ears.

Volla! I found a new, more gracious love To talk with and withal to think with, too: Below the ears she is as fair as you And rarer, besides, the goodly gray above.

Good-by, dear Dumbelle! Little loves and so: We meet, we kiss, we love a while, and... go!

ANALYTICAL.

It would be too bad if Mr. Harding felt he had to run again to prove his courage. So far as we know the Democrats have never intimated that he might be afraid to run on his record. It is understood by most Democrats that Republican national tickets usually run on the record of some outstanding figure in the history of the party, like Abraham Lincoln. It would follow from this that the next candidate of the party was to run on his own record. Moreover, Mr. Harding does not have to prove his courage. He did that abundantly when he vetoed the soldiers' bonus. If we are to keep on requiring him to prove it we are as ridiculous as the Romans had been had they insisted on Horatius that he keep on holding bridges before they would give him that fine farm which Macaulay tells us he got. Mr. Harding has an entire right to run for no better reason than that he ran the first time, which certainly was not a test of his courage.

A progressive is one who wants to get something we have not. A conservative is one who wants to hold something we already have. This is why progressives seem cheerful and confident, whereas conservatives look worried and apprehensive.

Texas is the latest state to exclude evolution from its schools, though we continue to look to the rich fossil beds of Texas for proofs of evolution. The trouble with that vast region lying beyond the River des Peres is that it has its theology. Its politics and its education all so hopelessly mixed up that a composite photograph of what is in everybody's mind would pass for a very fair likeness of Mr. Bryan blowing out the gas.

Missouri women have been given equal standing with men in political parties, which means that unrefined bodies like our city committees are to be exposed to the aesthetic influence of home and department store restaurants. This is the sole reason why politics are associated in our minds with unwelcome things. The women will speedily change all that. They have brought man from a cave with a dirty stone floor to the luxury of the modern home, and they are by no means done with him yet.

Representative Roney said of his bill to bar fraternalists from the Missouri high schools that "this is a bill to take snobbishness out of our high schools." The House passed it, but the Senate killed it, knowing snobbishness to be its own punishment.

Some of those eminent Americans who continually shout that the Reds are coming ought to be told that we cannot share their alarm because our consciences are not so bad.

A friend of mine, a very clever short story writer, was sitting in a beer saloon on Narragansett Pier. At the particular moment I am writing of he was thinking about John L. Sullivan and the habit he had of coming into such places as he was then in, slapping people on the back and inviting them to drink with him, not one of whom had the nerve to refuse. My friend was thinking to himself what a set of jellyfish they were and if ever he happened to be present on such an occasion just what he would do—he'd show 'em, by golly, what a manly spirit meant! Just as he had settled the matter entirely to his satisfaction, there was an uproar, a burst of laughter, the doors swung wide and in came John L. and a crowd of friends. He started right away doing the usual thing—went from table to table, slapping men on the back with a "What'll you take to drink, young fellow?" accompaniment. As he neared the table at which sat my friend the latter braced himself and set his lips tight to launch his defiance. Sullivan came up behind him, said: "And what'll you have, young fellow?" accompanying the question with a resounding slap on the back. My friend in describing the incident to me said he felt as if he had been kicked by a mule. He gurgled, spluttered, fought for air and with what he felt was his last gasp said in a voice that was almost a whistle, "Beer!"

DAWSON-WATSON.

Perhaps all of us have wondered about the familiar song from "Treasure Island," which goes:

Fifteen men on the Dead Man's Chest

You-bow and a bottle of rum!

It has puzzled us to know what sort of sea chest that was, since all those we ever saw would not accommodate any such number of men. The explanation is laughable. It is made by Lord Frederick Hamilton, an English writer, who says The Dead Man's Chest, familiarly known to all English seamen when the sea was less respectable but more romantic, is a curious and uninhabited rock, quite unlike in shape, among the Virgin Islands. Inasmuch as these islands were bought not long ago by the United States, The Dead Man's Chest is American soil, goes:

We always thought the piggy-wiggly had behind it something more ambitious than the modest savings made possible by letting us be our own clerks, and it is no surprise to us to learn that it has just made millions for its originator in a big stock manipulation. People who set out to do some little thing for us usually have as their ultimate object some big thing for themselves. We were trying to think of an exception to this when the paper suddenly went to press.

A correspondent of the Nation says Padawski was invited to address the Texas legislature in a resolution which described him as "the great Russian ex-premier and famous baritone singer." It must be great in these troubled times to have a little world of your own.

WHICH?

CREATION or evolution?

Which of the two shall stand?

For ages men have argued.

To settle the question grand.

On authority rests the former.

Has prestige in being old.

The latter, the ground test of science.

Each day gains a firmer hold.

Why don't we believe that an angel

Bestrides and guides each star?

Because we know natural causes

Entirely adequate are.

Can something be made out of nothing?

Just think it over a bit.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading public newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

CITY MANAGEMENT PROBLEM.

From the Ohio State Journal.

NOW that the Supreme Court has upheld its amendments to the home rule charter of Cleveland that big city will begin to plan for a change to the city manager system of government with the beginning of the new year. In addition to that change the city will elect the members of the City Council by proportional representation. . . . Cleveland will be the first great industrial center to employ the proportional representation method of choosing its elective officers, although the plan has been in use in some smaller places. . . . Theoretically proportional representation will insure that no important group of voters assembled about an idea or plan or movement will be without representation in the City Council. In addition each of the groups or organizations will have in the Council representatives proportional in number to the size of the group. In Cleveland the City Council will be composed of 25 members and the councilmen will choose the city manager. The councilmen will be chosen from four districts into which the city is to be divided, each district to have not fewer than five or more than nine representatives. In voting for councilmen each voter can vote for as many choices as there are candidates in the running, first choice, second, third and so on to the end of the list. Advocates of proportional representation make the claim that it insures the nearest approach to real popular government possible. . . . Incidentally the new plans dispose of the primary elections in Cleveland and in Sacramento, Kansas, Boulder and Ashland. The mixed population and the numerous schools of thought represented there, each fairly well organized, will give the new plan its largest test, and for that reason its operation will be watched and studied by supporters and opponents of the new method all over the country.

PROHIBITION AND FANATICISM.

From the Chicago Tribune.

THE Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church has issued a statement at Washington demanding that the United States seize the rum-runners lying outside American waters. "The only thing to do," the board said, "is to detail United States destroyers to round up these ships, bring them to port and confiscate ships and cargoes and send the crews to the United States." It adds that if international law forbids this the United States should change the law "within the next few hours." That is a large order. Many of the ships are British. Much of the property is British. Many of the rum-runners are British subjects. They are out in waters which the United States does not control. The quick way of dealing with them is, of course, to ignore international law, to act as a lawless nation, to undertake piracy and to seize the ships. That is a quick way to get British battleships off the American coast instead of rum ships. We have never heard of Great Britain being indifferent to the rights of British subjects on the seas. . . . They urge haste and invite war. They proceed from indifference to personal rights to indifference to national rights. When they have an object to attain they regard for laws and the rights of others as chaff. They complain of disrespect for law and are the first to put law aside. They are responsible for a condition which permits a person to be punished twice for one crime. They are responsible for the theory that wet communities should be flooded with rum. They would violate sea law. They urge more pacifism in the United States and would destroy the army and navy, but are willing to have the country go to war as a law breaker. Pacifism is blind.

The deacon and the hay.
The deacon was a driver
With urge enough for tea;
He didn't care a silver
For horses or for men.
For the next world he labored,
Yet deemed it not amiss,
Since he had made that certain
To strive as well for this.

Impatient of delaying,
Upon the hay-load high
The deacon stood in haying
And made his helper cry:
To pass those heavy forksful,
The hired-man raced all day,
While loud the deacon shouted
His call, "More hay! More hay!"

One time a rustic giant
Was passing up to him—
A fellow young and pliant
And stout of wind and limb,
Who pitched with leasure and
Till, in his wonted way,
The testy deacon thundered,
"More hay!"—and then, "More hay!"

With sudden ardor springing,
The man of might replied,
Great masses upward flinging
In one unbroken stride,
They fell too swift for placing,
They knew not let nor stay;
The deacon soon was deluged
Beneath the flood of hay.

The load forsook its tether;
And, with a rushing sound,
Deacon and hay together
Were landed on the ground.
From out the mass the deacon
Thrust forth at last his head,
The mocking giant queried,
"Was it 'More hay!' you said?"

How quickly pride is tumbled
That hugs destruction's brink
A haughty spirit's humbled
Far quicker than a wink!—
You think so? Well, the deacon
Without the least dismay,
Jumped back upon the rigging
And cried, "More hay! More hay!"

You think so? Well, the deacon,
Without the least dismay,
Jumped back upon the rising
And cried, "More hay! More hay!"

Whether there is basis for the rumor of domestic strife in the household of former Emperor William—newspaper for maybe the Hohenzollerns ain't getting along so well—this department has no way of finding out. But if it is true, now is the time to look for a statement that the deacon was not of William's seeking, and that he had the unhappiness forced upon him.

garrets,
I should refuse any offer of carrots.

The Old Farm Distilling Co.'s plant at West Overton, Pa., is to be refitted, and will be a model orphanage. Thus the prohibitionists will point with pride to the fact that no longer is whisky responsible for the large number of orphaned and homeless children. The line forms on the left; applications considered in the order in which they are received; triflers and professional flirts save stamps. Write, wire or call at the above address.

On the basis of this letter Mr. Cobb received four offers from New York newspapers. This seems to us distinctly to the credit of the editor of the "Conning Tower." Mr. Cobb turned out to be one of the best equipped newspaper men of his generation, but it doesn't sound to us like a very funny letter.

"The Conning Tower of yesterday," writes J. H. G., giving credit to F. P. A. where he has not seen, "is a fine example of the advice to women with forward husbands. Evidently the writer does not read his Bible, or he would see that St. Paul gives much the same counsel."

But we know all about St. Paul, as a matter of fact, and we have always thought he did more to distort the true spirit of Christianity than any man who ever lived.

However, a charge rather more disturbing than that of attempted undermining of religious faith comes from A. B. C., who reads some paragraphs which we wrote about Bala Ruth and writes: "It is just such prattling and thinking by you and your kind that cause capable but easily influenced ball players to imagine they can be bigger than the game they play. What is the result? They flounder and then slight in one grand flourish, and then they are back again their old composure. And all this because a few columnists, who are widely read, in order to fill their columns, must say something. You, therefore, are a lone harm."

Perhaps we had better return to religion after all and abandon a subject such as professional baseball, about which people feel so seriously. REYWOOD BROWN.

Editor Points to Life of John Burroughs in Illustrating Combination of Vocation and Avocation.
Education was emphasized as instruction leading to the profitable employment of leisure time rather than training for vocations by Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the editorial page of the New York Times and former professor of public and history in Princeton University, in an address last night in Hotel Chase to approximately 600 persons gathered in the interest of the John Burroughs School, to be established in St. Louis County.

Dr. Finley drew largely from the life of John Burroughs to illustrate an ideal combination in which a task coincided with choice of occupation and the task being unnecessary.

Allen D. Albert, formerly a newspaper editorial writer, also discussed "The Future of Leadership in St. Louis" and indicated that education should seek to stir native qualities rather than to pour in upon a child the essentials of leadership.

Louis H. Egan, president of the school, presided.

The patronesses for the junior prom at Washington University tomorrow night include Messrs. A. E. Cullen, F. H. Treadway, M. Steele, C. Hughes, W. B. Clunch, L. Kinnaird, C. P. Whitbread, and R. The Fight of the Merrimac and the Monitor, Which Began the Era of Steel-clad Battleships, Was the Result of the Blockade of the Confederacy.

Blockade Runners.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON,
Author of "The Story of Mankind."

THE part played by the United States navy in the Civil War was very important, but not very eventful. Its job was to blockade the entire Southern coast from Fortress Monroe, at the mouth of Chesapeake Bay to the mouth of the Rio Grande. When this blockade was ordered by President Lincoln in the spring of 1861, only a dozen ships were available for immediate action. These were sent at once to the most important Southern ports. The other ships of the navy were recalled as rapidly as possible, and many merchant ships purchased and armed, and sent into the blockade line. By the end of the war, this line contained more than 300 vessels. Life on a blockader was about as exciting as life on a lightship. All one did was to lie a few miles off shore and watch to see that no adventurous blockade runner tried to slip past. Life on the runners, on the other hand, was thrilling to the highest degree. The boats used were low and very fast, and camouflaged by a coat of paint which made them as nearly as possible the color of the water. They were usually owned and manned by Englishmen, and were a marvelous scheme for making money. They would take on their cargoes at Nassau, in the Bahama Islands, owned by England, then cross over to the American coast, wait till night, and then try to slip unseen in the darkness between the blockaders.

Often they were caught in the act, but even so, sometimes, by reason of their great speed, they were able to get away and gain the harbor. Once safely there, they would sell their cargoes at prices high enough to pay for the risks they had run. A ton of salt, for instance, which could be bought in Nassau for $7.50, sold at Richmond for $17.00 in gold. A ton of coffee cost $24.00 in Nassau and brought $55.00 in Richmond. You could buy a pound of cotton in Charleston for 4 cents and sell it for $2.50 in Liverpool. And in Richmond you paid your bootlegger $25 in gold for the bottle of brandy which he had purchased in England for 75 cents. Even today, $25 a quart seems very high for bootleg brandy. Insurance rates upon blockade runners were enormous, and the captain of such a boat received 1000 pounds a month pay, instead of the 30 pounds he had been used to getting. Yes, blockade running was an extremely profitable business, and full of thrills as well, so it was no wonder that it became very popular.

Early in the war the Confederates took an old merchantman—named the Merrimac, and roofed it over with iron. It was in March of the year 1862 when she sailed boldly forth from Norfolk Harbor to break the blockade. On her first day she did very well, destroying three Federal ships. But the next day she encountered a queer looking craft, for all the world like a raft, with a round iron turret upon it. It was the famous Monitor, hastily built in 100 days from a design made by John Ericsson, a Swedish immigrant. A fierce battle ensued between the two strange-looking vessels, but luck was all against the Merrimac. Her shots glanced off the smooth round sides of the Monitor's turret and there was nothing else to aim at. After four hours the Merrimac withdrew in a much battered condition, and abandoned her ambitious plan of breaking the blockade. From this battle we date the era of the modern steel-clad battleship.

"Mercantile Service"

Departments: Banking Bond Corporation Real Estate Loan Real Estate Public Relations Safe Deposit Savings Trust

THINGS are moving in St. Louis. The Bond Issue and the Community Fund went over with flying colors. Building permits for January and February increased more than 100% over the same months last year. To keep things moving—not like a runaway horse, but slowly, surely, under the controlled power of credit—this is one object of "Mercantile Service."

SENATE PLANS TO WATCH PROGRESS OF ROAD BUILDING

"Snooping Committee" of Five Holdover Members Proposed in Resolution by Senator Cave.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—A "snooping committee" of five Senators to keep under close surveillance during the next 21 months the progress of road building in Missouri and the methods of the State Highway Department is a plan of the State Senate provided for in a resolution introduced today by Senator Cave, chairman of the Committee on Roads and Highways. The committee is to serve until the next session of the Legislature and will consist of holdover Senators.

The resolution named Senator James of Carroll County chairman of the committee. It is expected the other members will be Cave and Cunningham, Democrats, and Brunk and Pickett, Republicans.

The committee will be given authority to compel the attendance of witnesses, and to make any investigations it sees fit, the purpose being to know at all times just what the Highway Department is doing, and to keep in intimate touch with its work. The resolution directs that the committee shall meet in Jefferson City at such times as the chairman shall call it into session.

Senator Cave said there was no intention of harassing the Highway Commission or interfering with it, although the resolution contains a provision for the making of suggestions to the commission.

"The only purpose of the creation of this rather unusual committee," Cave said, "is to make certain that when the Legislature convenes in 1935 there will be a properly authorized committee of the Senate to report actual facts regarding the progress of the road-building program in Missouri."

"Want First-Hand Information." "The State is embarking upon a big project. The road law is new and provision contains many defects. We created at this session to tamper with it because the Highway Commission had been operating under it only a short period of time, only long enough to get preliminary details out of the way. The Roads and Highway Committee received many demands for changes in the law and many complaints against the Highway Commission. We had no first-hand information and there was not time for us to investigate during the session of the Legislature."

"It is our intention to be helpful to the commission. It may be that conferences of our committee and the commission will make possible the solution of many things which otherwise would have to be created from scratch at the next session. We want to know in detail just how the highway law is working out, just how it is being interpreted by the commission, how the $40,000,000 of road bond money is being expended and all details of the work of the commission. The Legislature will want these facts and we have come to the conclusion that it is the proper course to provide a committee of Senators to gather the information."

Not to Hamper Commission. "I want to give every assurance that there is not the slightest intention that the commission in any manner. It is only that we may know what actual facts are, and that as legislators we will have the information first hand to guide us in legislation touching this most important subject."

The proceeding is entirely new in Missouri government. For the first time there have been investigating committees, but never one assigned to supervision of a State department with power to make suggestions to the department, and with power to investigate actions of officials while the matter being investigated was actually under way. Previous investigations have been the result of complaints of citizens or irregularities which have been gone before the investigation started.

There is considerable speculation as to how the appointment of the committee will be received by Theodore Gary, chairman of the committee, who is not now in Jefferson City. Gary is the type of man who proceeds along his own lines and is extremely doubtful that he will look with favor upon a situation in which he and his associates are under constant surveillance by a group of Senators.

Probable Makeup of Committee. If the Senators now being talked of for membership on the committee are named by Senator Painter, president pro tem, the committee could not in any way be considered unfriendly to the Highway Commission. Cave and Brunk are considered more than friendly and Cunningham is not unfriendly, though he comes from Shannon County, in the Ozark hill country, where there is more or less opposition to the high type road as it is known in the vicinity of the larger cities. Pickett and Brunk would be expected to stand by the commission for political reasons. If not, it being a creature of a Republican administration.

ROBBER KILLED IN GRANITE CITY GOT $2300 AT ALTON

William Emerson, One of
Two, Shot by Walter S.
Nichols, Is Identified by Man Robbed Last Friday.

William Emerson, one of the two highwaymen shot and killed Tuesday night by Walter S. Nichols when they were holding up Nichols' saloon at 2400 Edwards street, Granite City, has been identified as the robber who took $2300 from the safe of Al Weber, an Alton saloon keeper, last Friday night.

As told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, Emerson was at liberty under a $4000 Federal Court bond in connection with the theft of $8000 worth of merchandise from a freight car in Granite City more than a year ago.

Observing from the newspaper accounts of the killing of the two robbers that the tactics they had pursued in the holdup of the Nichols saloon resembled the work of the men who had robbed him, Weber last night went to Madison and viewed the bodies.

He identified Emerson as the latter's bald head and other features as one of the three robbers who entered his saloon last Friday night.
He said that Emerson was the one who ordered him to open the safe and turn over the money.

Marion F. Sawyer of Granite City, who was arrested yesterday, was released last night. Witnesses were unable to identify him and he denied having had anything to do with the robbery. He said he was passing the saloon when the shooting occurred and that he became so frightened he took a taxi to St. Louis. The finding of his cap in front of the saloon led to his arrest. He said it was blown off and that he did not stop to pick it up.

Relatives of George Peck, the younger of the two robbers killed by Nichols, have claimed his body.
and his funeral will be held from the family home in East St. Louis.
An inquest into the killing will be held tonight.

SAYS MAN HE KILLED HAD BEEN LOCKED IN OFFICE WITH WIFE

Kentuckian Caught Wife Leaving Place After Leaving Phone Talks.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 22.—
Clifford Blackerby, tobacco broker, testifying at his trial for the murder of Dr. Charles E. Heavrin, dentist, whom he shot and mortally wounded Dec. 18, today told how he had cut in on the telephone of his wife, with whom he had divorce proceedings pending, and heard loving conversations with a man he found to be Dr. Heavrin.

Blackerby's defense is that on the day of the tragedy he had gone to Heavrin's office to talk things over.
Found the door locked and waited an hour and saw his wife come out.
He seized her and forced her to go back.
They met Heavrin, he says. Heavrin made threatening demonstrations and they were struggling when the pistol was discharged. Judge Burge-vin ruled out the famous toast on the back of a cigar box, to "a man of 50" which the defense says was written by Mrs. Blackerby to Dr.
Heavrin. One word read:

"For a man that age
Can love so well
He makes me forget
There is a hell."

S. W. Baxter Named Administrator.
Samuel W. Baxter, an East St. Louis cannery, was appointed Public Administrator of St. Clair County today by Gov. Small and final action confirming him in the place is before the State Senate.

U. S. BUILDERS SAID TO BE SEEKING WORKERS IN ENGLAND

Head of House Painters' and Decorators' Union Discouraging Alleged Efforts.
(Copyright, 1923.)

LONDON, March 22.—Alleged efforts of American contractors to get British workmen to the United States are being discouraged by G. A. Gibson, general secretary of the Union of House Painters and Decorators.
He has warned workers in these trades not to go to America in search of work.

Gibson said he had received a letter from Philadelphia appealing for 1000 young Britishers to learn American methods of painting and saying that between now and 1926 the building trade could take 20,000 painters.
20,000 plasterers and about the same number of plumbers and carpenters.
Gibson immediately asked the American Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers if this were true. He got this reply:

"Any communication claiming a shortage of labor in the building trades of America is merely propaganda to bring more workmen to this country in order to overflow the overcrowded labor market and thereby bring down wages and tear the labor movement to pieces."

Mrs. John W. Weeks Seriously Ill.

Albert Scott, 51 years old, a negro, of 15A Moore street, was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Henry Perry, another negro, Dec.
30 last, by a jury in Circuit Judge Calhoun's court last night. Testimony was that Scott had quarreled with Perry over a dice game in a

Get Cadomene for Mother and Dad!

HAVE THEY COME THROUGH THE WINTER WITH HEALTH AND STRENGTH UNIMPAIRED?

If Not—Are They Nervous, Unable to Sleep Well? Are They Pale, Weak, Trembling, Short of Breath? Do
They Tire Easily—Seem All Run Down?

CADOMENE—THE TONIC SUPREME

Cadomene Helps Quickly!
Enriches the Blood!
Steadies the Nerves!

Improves Appetite—Aids Digestion.
Cadomene Improves Nutrition and Builds up Strength.
It is the Blood and Nerve Tonic Supreme.

Mother! Dear old Mother, and Dad, too, looked after you cared for you, when you needed care and help—Now it's your turn to help them keep strong and well in their declining years.

It's so easy for old folks to get all run down during a severe winter.

Their blood and nerves haven't the vitality to fight off colds, flu, grip, indigestion, etc. Their age prevents much exercise in the open. Digestion is not so good—liver function irregularly, followed by pains, distress, disturbed sleep.
Perhaps, too, they have "worries," or grief and loneliness to contend with. All these weaken the vitality of Mother and Dad.

Observe if Mother's lips are pale, almost white; does her skin appear bloodless, dull looking? Does she get "out of breath" easily; does it tire her to sweep or to be on her feet? Is her circulation weak—cold hands and feet? Perhaps headache and neck-ache are present; with a trembling weakness—

due to "nerves." Get Cadomene Tablets!

Be happy to see Mother or Dad regain good health, normal strength and steady nerves. Think of the reward that will be yours when you see these dear old folks free from the distress that comes from a run-down state of the system—and then you will know the power of Cadomene—and some day you may need its help. Cadomene has been helping others for many years and surely it should help you and yours.

Nurse Got Good Results

Cadomene Helped Mother

83 Years Old
Dear Sirs: I have taken your Cadomene Tablets for some time and always with good results. I have recommended the tablets to several of my friends, and my mother, who is 83 years old, and who does all her own work, has been taking Cadomene, and gives it credit for her unusual strength and vitality. You have my permission to tell others about the results mother and I have received from Cadomene Tablets.

Dear Sirs: I was advised to try your wonderful tonic known as Cadomene Tablets. After taking several boxes I began to feel better, to sleep sounder, and my nervousness left me entirely. I shall be glad to recommend your remedy to all sufferers. Yours truly,

MAN, WHOSE WIFE DIED HERE, HAS ANOTHER

R. A. Wilson, Who Disappeared After the Death, Has Family in Peoria, Police Learn.

In a search for Robert A. Wilson, a traveling salesman, whose arrest was ordered following the death of a woman purporting to be his wife, in a rooming house at 2858 Washington boulevard, Tuesday morning, the police homicide squad, has learned that the couple were married here on March 10, and has been informed that Wilson has another wife in Peoria, Ill., from whom he was not divorced, and a 13-year-old daughter.

An Associated Press dispatch from Peoria today quotes Mrs. Wilson as saying she was preparing to file statutory charges against her husband when word of his second wife's death reached there. The Peoria police are watching for Wilson.

The homicide squad found a license in Wilson's room at the boarding house, where he has not been seen since 11 a. m. Tuesday, showing that he had been married to Mrs. Ernest Young by the Rev. Chester E. Jenney, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Mr. Jenney told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the couple had come to his home, 4114 Washington boulevard, March 10, and asked to be married.

"I don't make a practice of marrying divorced persons," the minister said. "Wilson told me, when I asked, that he had not been married before and Mrs. Young said her first husband was dead. Wilson said they had just driven to St. Louis from their home, Joplin, Mo."

Mrs. Young lived in Springfield, Ill., where she was cashier in a Thompson restaurant. The chief of police there told St. Louis detectives over long-distance telephone yesterday that Wilson's other wife in Peoria, Arthur Hall of Sweetwater, Ill., a brother-in-law of Mrs. Young, came here yesterday. He said he knew Wilson had been keeping company with his sister-in-law at Springfield, but did not know Wilson was married.

As was told yesterday, Mrs. Young or Mrs. Wilson, died of septicaemia, a coroner's physician reported after an autopsy, which caused Deputy coroner Deane to declare it was a case of an illegal operation, and to order Wilson's arrest. The inquest was adjourned, after it was shown the couple had stayed at the rooming house since March 12 and that the woman became ill last Saturday. The body will be sent to Athens, Ill., for burial.

Wilson is described as being about 40 years old and weighing about 200 pounds. He wore a brown overcoat when he was last seen at the rooming house. Police orders are for his arrest and detention without bail.

TWIN BROTHERS WHO HAVE IDENTICAL MILITARY RECORDS

Illinois Bonus Commission Finds Rare Coincidence in Case of Roy L. and Ray L. Moon.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 22.—Twin brothers with military records identical in every detail have provided the most interesting problem which has come before the Service Recognition Board. The first names of the brothers were so similar the board was compelled to obtain affidavits to establish identity.

When two claims appeared, one signed Roy L. Moon and the other Ray L. Moon, with the handwriting similar and the military record practically the same in both, clerks of the board concluded they had caught someone attempting to duplicate his bonus payment. Both gave their address as Macomb, Ill. The only difference in the personal description accompanying the application was that one was described as having "brown" eyes and the other "blue" eyes. Every other personal detail tallied exactly.

Their service was in Battery A, 239th Field Artillery and Company M, 238th Infantry. Both were with their organizations in the St. Mihiel drive and the Argonne. They were discharged at Camp Grant on Memorial day, 1919. The brothers were in the same engagements throughout the two years of their service.

According to Palmer D. Edmunds, chief clerk of the board, this is a rare case. Even in comparatively numerous cases of brothers who were not twins and who began service together, it was very seldom that they remained side by side throughout the war.

WITNESS IDENTIFIES 2 HERRIN DEFENDANTS

Farmer Tells of Seeing Clark and Howard Go Down Road With McDowell.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MARION, Ill., March 22.—The identification of Oscar Howard and Otis Clark yesterday afternoon completed the identification by witnesses of all the defendants in the second Herring massacre trial. Hugh Willis, James Brown, Philip Fontanetta and Bert Grace had previously been pointed out.

George Nelson, a farmer, living at Moak Crossing, said that he was at his home the morning of June 22. About 7 o'clock that morning he saw the procession of prisoners halt in front of his home and said he knew McDowell, superintendent of the Lester strip mine, the employees of which were killed by the mob.

"It seemed he couldn't get over the railroad track very well and some man hit him with a revolver," said the witness. "The man that was in the lead halted the crowd and someone said that he had given out and I heard another one say that there was no use to take him any further. Three men then went south."

These men were McDowell, Otis Clark and Oscar Howard, the witness said.

"Clark had one of McDowell's arms and Howard had the other," he related. "Clark had a revolver in one hand. As they started south and were right in front of my place I walked to the end of the yard and a man came up to the fence with a revolver and told me to get into my house. I thought it best to do it, and went in."

Found Body of McDowell.

The witness heard shots and about 25 or 30 minutes later he saw Clark and Howard getting into a car with Mrs. Otis Clark, "who had been around our place all morning," he said. Nelson went down the road later and saw the body of McDowell. He had a wound in the forehead and one bullet hole in each side of his chest. He had known Clark and Howard for some time. Howard formerly having worked for him.

William Goodman, a farmer living near the Johnson County home of Otis Clark, told of being at Crenshaw Crossing on the morning of June 22 and seeing Clark make a speech to "take them all out, kill them and stop the breed."

The defense objected to permitting Nelson to tell today of a remark alleged to have been made by Mrs. Otis Clark.

At the first trial Nelson testified that he heard Mrs. Clark exclaim, "They've got old 'Feg Leg' as a crowd marched a group of prisoners taken from the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal Co. past his house."

In the previous case Judge Hartwell ruled that the remark was admissible as against the Clark defendants as tending to establish a conspiracy, but that it should not be considered by the jury as against Mrs. Clark's husband.

Judge Sustains Objection.

In the present case Judge Hartwell sustained the objection as applying to all the defendants, ruling that "A wife is not a competent witness where the direct effect is to aid or injure the husband and where the testimony concerns him."

Under cross-examination by George White of the defense, Nelson, a gray-haired farmer, became angry and was cautioned by Judge Hartwell. Asked whether he knew Clark when the latter enlisted in the army at the time of the Spanish-American war, he replied that he had known Clark since he was a boy.

Nelson denied today that he had ever told anyone he could not identify anyone in the crowd accompanying the prisoners. On redirect examination he said Clark had visited him after having been indicted and asked him to go on his bond.

Robert Officer, who was a bookkeeper at the strip mine, testified that about 5:30 o'clock on June 21 Col. Sam Hunter, who had come to Marion as representative of the Adjutant-General, called up the mine on the telephone.

"Hunter said W. J. Lester, owner of the mine, had called him up from Chicago and authorized him to tell us to close the mine down and promise to ship no more coal," said the witness. "Hunter said he had arranged a truce with the union officials at Herring. He said Fox Hughes, vice president of the mine, had agreed to come over to the mine with a white flag in an automobile."

Told to Put Up White Flag.

"Hunter said we should put up a white flag and cease firing and that Hugh Willis had said he would send runners to tell the attackers to stop firing."

The statement was made in the absence of the jury and over the repeated objections of the defense. C. W. Middlekauff, Assistant Attorney-General, agreed that the substance of the telephone conversation was improper and it was ordered expurgated from the record. The witness, however, was permitted to state that a white flag had been raised.

Try This Face Restor

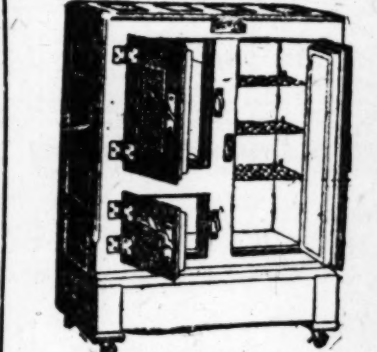

After a Tiresome Day

When you get home fagged out after a day's shopping or a club meeting, the best way to bring back your natural color and to remove the wrinkles is to take a tar-root "facial" before dressing for the evening. Get a package from drugist or at department store and make a paste with one teaspoonful each of powdered tar-root and lemon juice or cream. Spread over face and neck. This makes a clean, translucent mask which should be left on 15 to 30 minutes. Wash off with warm water—and all sagging and tired lines are gone. If this is used a couple of times a week the muscular tissue will be strengthened and the face will retain its youthful outline. Powdered tar-root is quite inexpensive, an original package lasting many weeks.

AIR MEET OFFICIALS INSPECT COURSES HERE

Flyers Satisfied With Either Lambert or Scott Field for Pulitzer Race.

Lambert Field, at Bridgeton, St. Louis County, and Scott Field, near Belleville, were inspected yesterday as prospective courses for the 1933 meet of the National Aeronautic Association and Pulitzer trophy airplane speed race that is to be held here in October, by Col. J. E. Fachel of the Army Air Service and Commander Marc A. Mitscher of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, who were accompanied to St. Louis by B. Russell Shaw, chairman of the Contest Committee of the association.

After viewing both fields and adjacent territory from an airplane, Col. Fachel and Commander Mitscher expressed satisfaction with both places and departed for Washington to make their report. The final decision as to what field will be selected for the meet is to be made on the basis of their report and reports of other army men, none of whom has found serious objection to Lambert Field.

The party was not here to make the decision, but merely to fly over suggested courses and to check on reports of others. Acting Mayor Aloe took the visitors to Lambert Field in the morning, where Lieut. Wells of Scott Field gave them an airplane, which was piloted over a prospective course, by Mitscher, with William B. Robertson directing the course and Col. Fachel as observer.

Returning to Lambert Field the party was taken to the St. Louis Country Club where they and members of the St. Louis Contest Committee dined as guests of Col. A. T. Perkins.

In the afternoon Col. Fachel and Commander Mitscher were taken by Wells in the airplane to Scott Field and over a tentative course, and then returned by airplane to St. Louis. Last night they had dinner with members of the local committee at the University Club and departed for Washington.

The Old Platform that Makes This New Low Price Possible

This is the Selling Policy that in spite of the fact that the leather market has gone up, makes it possible for us to keep the Quality up and put the Price down once more, and announce a new low price of Six Sixty for Sixty New Spring Styles in Sixty Regal Stores from Coast to Coast.

Thirty years ago I established this Platform and shipped the First Regal Shoes direct from the factory to the first Regal Shoe Store I opened in the heart of the wholesale leather district in the City of Boston.

Today the Regal Shoe Company is a National Institution with Sixty Regal Stores from Coast to Coast, and the Policy Planks in this old Platform are as sound as the day it was built.

Concentrating on One Quality in the factory, cut the cost of Making. Selling direct from the Maker to Wearer, cut the cost of Distribution. One Price for all Styles in every store, cut the cost of Selling. Increased sales in Sixty Regal Stores from Coast to Coast gives us a constantly increasing Purchasing Power and Prestige in the Leather Markets of the World.

It is as simple as A, B, C, and yet we are the only Manufacturing Retailers with a chain of stores from Coast to Coast who make their own shoes in their own factory and sell them in their own stores, at The One Price which gives the consumer the benefit of the saving.

No new religion in merchandising, no new fangled notions in manufacturing and selling discovered during the last thirty years has produced as many economies and resulted in as great Value to the Consumer, as the old planks on which this business was built—i.e.

HELP KIDNEY BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood, pass it on to the bladder, where it remains to irritate and inflame, suffering in its constant dread.

Bladder weakness, most folks find. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, the often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking soft water, also get about four or five of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue for two or three days. This helps neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder, which acts normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and made from the acid of grapes, lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate of soda, and is used by thousands of folks who suffer from bladder and kidney ailments. Jad Salts causes no irritation. Jad Salts causes no harm.

Here you have a pleasant, efficient lithia-water drink which quickly relieves your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least once a year.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT FOR ST. LOUIS MOVIE

Work of Filming "The Spirit of St. Louis" About to Be Resumed.

Volunteer movie actors are being recruited by the Missouri Historical Society, Jefferson Memorial Building, for the film, "The Spirit of St. Louis," work on which is about to be resumed. The next scene to be shown will depict the journey of Pierre LaCade and young Auguste Chouteau up the Mississippi, and their landing at what is now the Levee and Walnut street, in the autumn of 1763, and their return, with a colonizing party, in February, 1764. For this and other scenes, several hundred actors will be needed, and the volunteers are asked by the Missouri Historical Society to send in their names. Those who wish may send photographs, but the return of pictures is not promised. The actors will not be paid, as the money advanced by a group of St. Louis business men covers only the expense of making the film. The business men underlying the enterprise hope to get back the money they have put in, without profit, after the film is marketed. It is announced that profits will be used for the free distribution of the film to schools and colleges. In the LaCade-Chouteau scenes, the role of LaCade will be played by Edgar Roy of 3935 Lindell boulevard, a descendant of the Chouteau family, and the part of Chouteau will be taken by Harold Tutthill of 4537 Tower Grove place, representing the Boy Scouts. An old-time boat, with ropes, or cordelles, attached, by which it was drawn upstream by men along the banks, has been built for these scenes. The participants will appear as pioneers, traders and Indians. An earlier scene, the great fire of 1849, was "shot" last fall, a large number of volunteer actors serving then, with Fire Chief Panzer in the role of the historic Chief Targee.

ONE bad apple in the barrel will rot the whole barrel. One bad tooth in the mouth will communicate its putrefaction to the whole system!

The contaminating poison of the decaying tooth seeps into the system, leaving in its wake an impaired condition of health which demands not only the skillful treatment of your dentist but frequently the careful diagnosis of your physician.

Kolynos Dental Cream might have prevented the decay of that first tooth!

Kolynos Fights Bacteria While It Beautifies

Kolynos Dental Cream is a tooth polisher of the most efficient kind—producing and preserving the natural pearly lustre of the teeth, without grit or bleach.

Instead of injuring the enamel, it preserves it—freeing it from the bacterial life which produces the conditions causing decay.

It anticipates and corrects conditions which would otherwise produce "the one bad apple in the barrel."

When one simple, delightful daily habit will do so much towards protecting your general health, as well as insuring and beautifying your teeth, why hesitate?

We have on file in our New Haven laboratories personal applications from over 47,000 American Dentists and 74,000 American Physicians for Kolynos Dental Cream, to distribute among their patients.

Kolynos is more than tooth insurance—it is health insurance of the most practical kind. Its daily use destroys or brings under control millions of bacteria and disease organisms which lodge in the mouth and throat. These germs otherwise would pass into the lungs or intestinal system.

The daily Kolynos habit is the greatest aid you can give your physician as well as your dentist.

FURNISHINGS WRECKED IN LABADIE AVE. HOME

Everything in Six-Room House of Mrs. Lillian Ballman, Except Boarder's Property Smashed.

The interior of Mrs. Lillian Ballman's home, 4619 Labadie avenue, looked like a good deal more than a cyclone had struck it. A cyclone is violent in a big way, but it is often careless of small details. No detail of demolition was overlooked by the person who entered Mrs. Ballman's home, between 5:30 and 7:30 last evening, and broke up housekeeping for her.

The piano had been hauled to pieces. Tables and chairs had been split into furniture measurements. Bedposts had been chopped up, mattresses and pillows were torn open and feathers had drifted over a melancholy pile of furniture fragments. Clothing had been dragged from closets and bureau drawers and torn into shreds. Nothing had been spared in the six-room house except the personal belongings of a young woman who boards with Mrs. Ballman.

A thousand dollars won't cover my loss, Mrs. Ballman said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, who saw her at the Deer Street Police Station, where she was telling the police of her reasons for having asked the arrest of Peter Memer. Memer was a prisoner in the station at the time she called there. He lives at 613A North Euclid avenue and is 40 years old and an undertaker's assistant. He boarded at Mrs. Ballman's home until seven weeks ago.

Mrs. Ballman said she received threatening telephone messages from Memer yesterday, and that he accompanied a proposal of marriage, a few days ago, with a threat if she refused. However, she refused.

Mrs. C. Vandegrift of 4712 San Francisco avenue told the police and the reporter that three visits which she said Memer made to her home yesterday afternoon. She said Memer telephoned to Mrs. Ballman from her house and that she heard him make threats. Before leaving on his last call, Mrs. Vandegrift said, Memer broke a kitchen window.

Memer admitted breaking the Vandegrift kitchen window, which he said was an accidental occurrence, but he denied everything else alleged or deduced by the two women, including Mrs. Ballman's statement that he had proposed to her. He said Mrs. Ballman had sought to persuade him to return to her home to board, but that he had refused to do so and that he had no desire to marry anyone. He said he was not at Mrs. Ballman's home at any time yesterday. She was away between 5:30 and 8, when the furniture was wrecked.

The prosecuting attorney's office today issued three warrants against Memer, charging him with malicious destruction of property and injuring a dwelling house. Mrs. Ballman is the complainant in one warrant for malicious destruction; Mrs. Vandegrift complains in the other two.

Mrs. Ballman is the widow of Walter G. Ballman, who shot and killed his brother, Leonard Ballman, and then killed himself, Nov. 1, 1919, in a taxicab on the St. Charles road. At the time, Walter Ballman was awaiting trial on the charge of the murder of a saloon proprietor, who was killed by men whom Ballman had driven to the saloon. The Ballman brothers were partners in a lumber business inherited from their father.

DOGS GUARD ART TREASURES

Police Dogs at the Boston Museum.

BOSTON—Two giant police dogs nightly guard the treasures of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Trained to refuse to accompany anyone but the watchman who has charge of them, they are led at intervals each night through the darkened galleries.

Employees are cautioned against remaining in the building after hours because of the danger of attack by the powerful animals. An official of the museum, who stayed until well into the evening recently, was saved from the dogs only by the quick intervention of the watchman.

Wreck Laid to Switch Tampering. WASHINGTON, March 22.—Malicious tampering with a switch on the main line of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad at St. Mary-of-the-Woods, Ind., was the cause of the derailment of a passenger train there on Feb. 6, safety inspectors have reported to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning signs, get busy with good old Musterole. Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation.

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

AND THEN WE FOLLOWED UP THE DOCTOR

One day one of our customers phoned in to find out why we hadn't delivered a prescription. We were told that the doctor said he would give it to us to fill and send out, as he expected to come by our store. But a slight delay on the doctor's part, together with the customer's knowledge of our usual prompt service, was the cause of our being prodded before we even had the prescription. Then we sent a tracer after the doctor.

Station K S D will give a series of monthly children's concerts, beginning Saturday, April 7. These concerts, which will take place the first Saturday in each month, will be from 7 to 8 p. m., immediately preceding the regular 8 o'clock broadcasting, and will have as participants boys and girls under 14 years of age. St. Louis children who play some instrument, sing or recite will be on the programs.

The first program has not been completely arranged for, but it will include both piano and violin numbers, songs and readings; no adult will be on the list of participants. Station K S D broadcasted in its program last night a violin and song recital given by Miss Mabel Brown and Mrs. F. A. Rudolph, assisted by Miss Ermine Stevenson at the piano. Miss Brown gave one of the midwinter midnight K S D concerts and played again last night in response to a widespread demand from music lovers for a return engagement.

Tonight is silent at K S D, but tomorrow night three programs will be given: a dance program at 8 o'clock, a choral program at 8:30 and a song-violin-piano recital at 11:30.

Three Brownies Learned to Pitch Only After Receiving Injuries

Shocker Mastered New Curves After Breaking Right Arm — Fractured Rib Caused Pruett to Develop Now Famous "Fade-away"—Vangilder Tore Ligament in Shoulder, Changed Style.

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 22.—If you asked a major league pitcher to tell you a short cut to pitching greatness and he told you to go out and break your arm, you probably would terminate the discussion abruptly in the belief that you were being "taken for a ride," in the language of the smoking room.

And yet one member of the Browns' staff, a man who has won more than 50 games for the Fohlmen in the last two years, might well give that answer, that advice, to such a question; another star of the Browns' staff might advise you to tear a ligament in your arm and still another would be basing his advice on his own experience if he suggested that you let some friend smash a rib or two.

Urban Shocker was a mediocre pitcher until he suffered a green-tree fracture of his pitching arm. Then Shocker had a fast ball and little other big league equipment, when he tore a ligament in his pitching arm. Hubert "Shucks" Pruett was an ordinary school-boy hurler and probably would have plodded his quiet way through medical school and would have taken up a quiet life as one of the leading physicians of Dexter, Mo., if it had not been for a fractured rib.

Blessing in Disguise.
One of the Brownie veterans was discussing the prospects of some of the Browns' pitching recruits during the long ride from Mobile to Shreveport.

Lee Fohl Will Use Youngsters in Game At Shreveport Today

SHREVEPORT, La., March 22.—The Browns will oppose the Shreveport club of the Texas League this afternoon if the weather will permit. It was cold and threatening when the Browns arrived yesterday afternoon from Mobile.

Manager Fohl will use two young pitchers and one veteran against the Shreveport team. Young infielders and outfielders also will get a chance to show their skill. Homer Ezzell, who came to the Browns from Shreveport, probably will have a chance to perform against his old teammates. Simon and Elbera also will get a shot at the third base assignment.

Fohl was asked today what he thought of the third base situation. He said he didn't have the slightest idea who would be covering third base for the Browns when the season started and that he expected the selection to be one of the hardest to make.

Local Handball Players Facing Hard Foe Today

Kammann and Cunningham,
Victors by Default in St.
Paul Tournament.

By Walter Kammann,
Champion Handball Player of St.
Louis.

ST. PAUL, March 22.—Upsets galore featured the national handball tournament yesterday. First came the unexpected defeat of Art Shinn, the champion, by Joe Murray of San Francisco.

Next followed the elimination of William Sackman of New York, who yesterday eliminated the man who had been the favorite, the late Charles F. Hopkins of St. Augustine, chairman of the Regatta Committee of the Ponce de Leon celebration, stating that he would then race Mr. Dodge "for money, chalk, marbles or fun."

In his telegram Mr. Wood stated that he only knew of Mr. Dodge's recent challenge through press reports. The telegram was sent following one received stating that Mr. Dodge refused Mr. Wood's offer for a race for a $100,000 side bet because he was not a gambling man. Mr. Wood said there was no element of gambling involved in the offer "because I felt sure of the outcome."

Concordia Students Eligible.
The new Concordia Baseball League, which replaces the old Walther League, has announced that students of Concordia Seminary will be eligible to compete in league games, but not more than two will be permitted to play on any one team. There are six teams in the league.

Carpentier and Siki To Fight in Ireland; Sideshow Charity Go

(Copyright, 1923.)
DUBLIN, March 22.—Battling Siki and Georges Carpentier, from whom Siki won the world's light heavyweight title, only to lose it to Mike McTigue, have agreed to meet again in Dublin if a big enough purse is offered.

The fight will be staged in the open, probably at the Lansdowne road football grounds. The date has not yet been fixed, but it is likely to be the end of May or early June.

It was stipulated by the French Boxing Federation that the two men must fight for charity in France.

GAR WOOD INVITES DODGE TO RACE FOR MONEY, CHALK OR FUN

MIAMI, March 22.—Suggesting that Horace Dodge of Cleveland properly "qualify before he challenges the world's speed boat championship," Gar Wood of Detroit last night wired Charles F. Hopkins at St. Augustine, chairman of the Regatta Committee of the Ponce de Leon celebration, stating that he would then race Mr. Dodge "for money, chalk, marbles or fun."

In his telegram Mr. Wood stated that he only knew of Mr. Dodge's recent challenge through press reports. The telegram was sent following one received stating that Mr. Dodge refused Mr. Wood's offer for a race for a $100,000 side bet because he was not a gambling man. Mr. Wood said there was no element of gambling involved in the offer "because I felt sure of the outcome."

New Leaders In Bowling Meet

Canton (O.) Man High in Singles — St. Louis Teams
Roll Tonight.

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 22.—New leaders appeared in the singles and doubles events of the American Bowling Congress tournament yesterday. K. Schario of Canton took the lead in the singles when he tagged in a total of 692. E. Mueller and S. Summers of Milwaukee rolled into first place in the doubles with a count of 1273.

The People's Ice Cream team of Chicago totaled 2573 pins for fourth place in the five-man team event. The team replaced the Intercity of New York, who held the position with 2871.

Teams from Chicago, St. Louis, Erie (Pa.), Toledo, Jacksonville (Fla.) and Atlanta (Ga.) will take the alleys tonight in an effort to enter the prize list. Standing of the teams:

CHICAGO. Singles: 1. Schario, 692; 2. Pratt, 681; 3. Pratt and E. Mueller, 1251; 4. Pratt and E. Mueller, 1251; 5. Pratt and E. Mueller, 1251.

ST. LOUIS. Singles: 1. Schario, 692; 2. Pratt, 681; 3. Pratt and E. Mueller, 1251; 4. Pratt and E. Mueller, 1251; 5. Pratt and E. Mueller, 1251.

"The Home of Cheerful Credit"

his arm apparently was gone. He hung around the camp for some time, but physicians told the club manager that the injury was serious, that an arm thus impaired never could be used again to throw baseballs effectively. The manager of the club was convinced. He gave Vangilder his release and the big farmer from Cape Girardeau went back to the plow and the old gray mule.

Then came the war. Vangilder was a good batter and so in the various army camps in which he served, he made the baseball team. But he did not even think of pitching. He could not straighten out his right arm. He played first base and flipped the ball across the diamond underhand, any old way.

He remembered the painful months the old injury had caused him and threw cautiously.

Then one day when there was another first baseman on the job, Vangilder began to play catch with a buddy, who had a catching glove. "I wonder if I could sail that old apple over the plate underhanded," Vangilder soliloquized. No, it was a sorry effort. Van straightened out the old arm as far as he could and tried one overhanded. It did not hurt. He tried one a little harder. He found he could put all he had on the ball and not hurt the old "wrecked" arm. As pitchers lovingly nickname their salary filpper.

Vangilder came back. He became the sensation of the camp and one of the best pitchers in the great American Army. When he got out of khaki, the thought of sailing the old mule up the corn rows all his life did not appeal to Van. And so he visited Bob Quinn.

Bob gave him a chance and now Vangilder is one of the star pitchers of the league. Last year, he had much hard luck, but he did some great pitching. This year he ought to win 25 games.

Pruett forced to change.
Pruett did the unusual when he suffered a fractured rib when pitching. The injury would have cost him his place on the Missouri T. baseball team if it had not been for his hitting ability. But, as he was a good hitter, he was sent to the outfield, where the injury had healed enough to enable him to play.

He tried to pitch after that. He pitched against Washington University. Bill Bascom was the coach at Washington at that time and when it was announced that the Browns had signed Pruett, Bascom was certain Quinn had made a mistake. He told the writer that Pruett never would do.

"I've seen him pitch," said Bascom, "and I'll wager he won't last a minute in the majors. He's too light. He gets a sore arm and he has no curve at all. But Bascom did not know about the fractured rib and the smart Pruett. Shucks is a curious, experimental sort of a person. He is made of the same stuff as was the discoverer that a stick rubbed against another stick, eventually would become hot and that a fire thus could be produced.

Shucks wondered if he could so arrange himself on the mound that a ball could be pitched without hurting that fractured rib. He kept at it with no great success as far as the rib was concerned, but he had the catchers' eyes popping out. Pruett was showing that catcher something extraordinary in the way of curves. Pruett was just starting to master the curve that made Babe Ruth strike out 10 out of 14 times last summer.

Develops Fadeaway.
In trying to pitch without hurting his rib, Pruett learned how to throw the fadeaway. The rib recovered and the fadeaway stayed with Pruett. The Browns lay great store by that fadeaway. They expect Shucks to take a regular turn on the hill this summer and as Pruett this year is stronger and heavier than in 1922, there is reason to believe that he will do some great pitching.

Exide BATTERIES

Do you carry a crank?

For many motorists—for those who have learned the economy and comfort of having a worth-while battery in their car—the automobile crank has practically passed out of the language. Perhaps they carry one hidden deep down under the back seat, but they have not seen it in years.

Others know their cranks only too well, for with a battery that sometimes works and sometimes does not, they have frequent opportunities to train their wrist muscles.

The comfort of knowing your electric starter is going to work every time, the security of being sure that your lights will illuminate the road ahead the moment you switch them on—these are the joys of having a battery on which you can always depend.

The proof of experience

If you own an Exide, you know these joys. If not, and you make inquiry, you will find that in earning its reputation as the long-life battery Exide has given satisfaction to millions of automobile owners in all parts of the world.

Sturdily built, Exide has the rugged power to outlast any other battery. That is what makes it economy for you to own one. When your battery needs to be replaced, drive to the nearest Exide Service Station and get the right size Exide for your car.

OUCH! BACKACHE!
RUB LUMBAGO OR
STIFFNESS AWAY

St. Jacob's Oil stops any pain, so when your back is sore and lame, or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacob's Oil at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back; and by the time you count fifty the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless, and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints!

During 1932 the Post-Dispatch printed 32,781 Business Opportunity "Wants"—17,435 more than the THREE other St. Louis newspapers combined.

WASHINGTON STUDENTS' COUNCIL
VOTES TO DROP HONOR SYSTEM

Plan Had Been in Vogue Since 1911 in Examinations and Other Written Work.

Students of Washington University have been informed through their weekly paper, Student Life, that the Students' Council had voted, 15 to 7, to abolish the honor system in examinations and other written work of all departments of the university.

This action is final, so far as the students are concerned, but is subject to approval by the faculty. There is said to be little doubt that the faculty will concur.

The system has been in vogue since October, 1911. By its provisions members of the faculty absented themselves from their classrooms while examinations were being written. The students would sign a pledge at the end of each test and on certain forms of home work, to the effect that they had neither given nor received help in it. Students were supposed also to report violations of the rule, but this they would not do, and there has been complaint in the faculty and the student body as to alleged violations.

"Brass Band" Charity

By Sophie Irene Loeb

A FEW days ago a young crippled girl made an appeal that she would like to have a good time and some kind-hearted people arranged to give it to her.

They gave her a good time and sent her home laden with gifts—which was all very well. But in giving her this good time she was brought before the public, which naturally made her an object of curiosity and drew attention to her as an object of charity as well. Her picture was heralded and every place she went something was told about it in the papers.

Doubtless these well intentioned people did not realize the real harm of such an action. In the first place, after all the publicity, this child will go back not entirely satisfied with the humdrum existence which she has always necessarily led, and there will be the continuous longing that is naturally engendered by such sudden and overwhelming attention—and then its immediate discontinuance will also have its effect.

The longing for a recurrence of her good times is bound to come to the young mind, and doubtless her fate will seem even more deplorable to her than it ever did. And now some of the proposals of marriage by mail to this young cripple.

If this were all the damage that is done by such limelight charity, we might say it affects but one. Yet when you think of the thousands of crippled children and the shut-ins who will have read the story of this girl and her sudden entrance on the center of the public stage, how sad their thoughts will be that each of them has not been singled out for such a flare of fame, if it might be termed such.

How many sighs at least will be uttered by these unfortunate as a result of this incident cannot be estimated. There are so many deserving ones, so many really heroic souls in the world who are bearing their burden of suffering and poverty who do not even get a glimpse of the gladsome things of the world and who go on taking the scraps of life until they die.

Why choose one little child when there are so many to whom sunshine could be spread even in small ways, instead of showering it on one in a blaze of publicity?

I am convinced that most of the time such things are done in ignorance of what real charity means. To exploit an individual because of his poverty is bound eventually to take away from him every vestige of self-respect that he holds dear.

Nobody likes to be pointed out as an object of charity or the receiver of alms. I have known mothers and even children to suffer every kind of death rather than seek to become a charitable charge on anybody.

There is something in the pride of the human that shrinks from the fact being known to others of his fellowmen that he has had to sink so low in the scale of human endeavor that he has had to seek aid, even as a last resort.

And that is why "charity" once a very beautiful name, has in latter days been looked upon as something to be shunned. It is only because the poor and the needy have been exploited on account of their misfortune, and for this reason they go to great extremes before permitting themselves to be so exploited.

Those who are truly charitable and want to give, do their utmost to save such people from becoming known, and the finest thought of real charity today is centered around making it possible to give the individual the help when he needs it with the least kind of noise, and enabling him to get on his feet, as it were, as quickly as possible.

I do not wish to cast any aspersions at the good people who helped the young girl mentioned in this article—they meant well and were very kind—but it is important that those who really want to help should realize how much injury they may inflict on the needy by parading them before the public.

The biggest things that are done in the world in the way of charity are done quietly and with little or no knowledge except by those directly interested, and the names of individuals directly affected are always withheld by those who have at heart the interests of the one aided.

It is to be regretted, but true, that there are those people who give only when they can get their names in print or are otherwise heralded in some "brass band" way as the givers of some gift.

The real saviors of mankind rarely blow their own horns or permit any one else to do it for them.

The Girl in the Corner Apartment

LXIII.—A CHANCE FOR RUBY

THE CHARACTERS.

CYNTHIA BRANT, country girl, living in a New York apartment she has inherited from an old lady she once befriended.

RUBY ALLISON, her gay and frivolous friend.

ALEC KERR, Ruby's fiancé.

QUENTIN GRAY, an artist friend of Ruby's.

AUNT ELLEN, who keeps house for Cynthia.

MURRAY STEWART, for whom Cynthia is working as a stenographer.

MRS. WAKEFIELD, friend and rich client of Stewart, who takes a fancy to Cynthia.

VIOLET JERROLD, friend of Murray's.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT.

THE girl's lips felt apart.

"Are you in earnest?"

"Why, of course I am!

Come, don't be foolish. He rose suddenly, and made a move as though to slip a careless arm about her waist.

But she frustrated that.

"You're on the level? You—you made me lose one job—and—

I— Her voice broke unexpectedly.

"Ruby, you silly kid! Why, what's the matter?" He infused a note of concern in the smoothness of his tones.

"Oh, nothing! Only the general rottenness of life!" She stared drearily at him with tear-filled eyes.

For this man had made her lose more than a mere job—(after all, any smart girl can get something, any time, in the way of work)—but he had made her lose her sweetheart, though she wasn't going to tell him so.

Quentin was acute, however, and sized up the situation pretty accurately.

"Cheer up, my child! If I were a good-looking young girl, I'd never have a depressing moment. I'd make the men fly round, and not give a fig for one of them!"

A flash came into the tear-wet eyes.

"Well, I don't give a fig! But what's this about the movie man?"

"He wants to see you. He says that, to begin with, he'll give you a small part as an 'extra' for six days or so. That'll be six days' work in two weeks, you understand—and perhaps more. He'd like to have a look at you to-night."

"Would he, indeed? Then why didn't you bring him along?" and Ruby tossed her red-gold head.

"Because he isn't free till half-past 8 o'clock. I thought I'd call here and get you and Miss Cynthia to meet him at a picture house at half-past 8. I've got three 'passes' for a box."

He flung his cigarette into the fire.

"Cynthia won't be home till morning," answered Ruby quickly, "and Aunt Ellen—bless her dear old heart—has gone out to a church social for an hour or two. So I'm alone, and you can't stay here, because of Mrs. Grundy!"

He flung his head back and laughed heartily.

"As though either of us cared for Mrs. Grundy! Don't be foolish!"

"I care!" said Ruby unexpectedly, rising to her feet, and showing a degree of spirit, "so you'd better go at once. But I will admit that I'd like to meet this man!"

"He's a good chap," cut in Quentin, rising also. "Run and get your things on, little Miss Propriety, and we'll go out and have a bite of supper somewhere, for I'm starving." (He had hoped that the evening meal might be provided for him in the little flat, but that was evidently not to be.)

"And for the love of Mike, cheer up, because I told Guggenheimer you were a real 'live wire,' and we've got to meet him at 8:30, and you've got to 'make a hit' with him, and don't forget it."

Violet Jerrold was a scheming girl, and a revengeful one.

Fortunately for her—but perhaps unfortunately for her competitors in love—Violet's appearance belied her true character.

For instance, with the correct expression on it, that little face of hers could look extremely sweet and innocent, granted that the observer didn't delve too deep and was content with superficialities.

The much-traveled and really clever little Count Veroni had read her well.

But then, as he himself declared, he was a painter of souls, rather than a mere painter of faces.

And to the outside world, Violet seemed a nice, pretty, simple little girl, with a fund of good spirits that was odd and rather effectively combined with a plaintive appeal for protection on the part of every male thing that came along.

Men, on the whole, are very credulous, where a pretty woman is concerned. If she is good to look at, "knows the ropes" and manages to entertain them, then she is voted, socially, a great success.

If there is money in the background—and this was true in Violet's case—a good deal can be overlooked in logs of ways!

On the night of the military ball, when Cynthia Brant was shining like a lovely planet with far too many satellites about it, Violet was "disgruntled" and annoyed.

Before Cynthia's advent, she really had had hopes of Murray Stewart. He was "difficult," of course, but time and perseverance could work wonders.

Margaret Wakeland, up to now, had been so useful and so very "helpful." Margaret had money and social position, but in lots of ways she was an impulsive fool, thought Violet, in the calm, cool and detached manner in which that young woman invariably analyzed her friends.

That inward coolness was a great asset to Miss Violet, though the quality was scarcely lovable. And it was lucky that few of her male admirers guessed she was the owner of it.

Tomorrow—Violet Schemes.

What Being Well-Groomed Really Means to Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI

YOU are given the beauty advice "always appear at your best" until the words themselves have probably lost their meaning for you. Like so many things that you hear continually, it may become a mere phrase that you hear without really absorbing.

Now, I'm going to tell you of an experiment that will doubtless help you to impress the true meaning of the words on your mind.

The next time you're walking down the street, make a careful study of the women whom you pass. Notice their complexions and their hair and their clothes.

Very likely the sum total of your impressions will be like this: "She'd be so much better looking if she would only catch 'up loose untidy' hairs at the back of her neck," or "This one has her hair beautifully done and is wearing a stunning hat, but her complexion ruins it all," and there perhaps a third will be pretty, but will have chosen clothes that don't seem to go at all with her type.

Now, when you think these defects over, each one seems in itself to be something that could be corrected—perhaps not easily corrected, but possibly with a little careful attention.

Each slip is a small one within itself, but if you learn the trick of attending to each detail these tasks, too, will become equally small and easy to attend to.

For instance, if you take time off and learn to arrange your hair in the most becoming way possible, you will be amply repaid. In the first place, the becoming coiffure shows both your hair and your profile to better advantage. It can make you appear younger and more attractive, not to mention better groomed. The second important thing is that once you have mastered this better coiffure, the small matter of arranging it will be simply reflex action. You can do it quickly and well, and you can be well-groomed in this respect and forget that there was ever any effort involved.

As to complexion, you know the common sense care of the skin. A few minutes morning and evening will help give you the complexion you desire. As I have often advised, find the course of treatment that suits your skin best and pursue it. You may find that you don't need much cold cream, or you may find that you do, and that a certain brand suits your skin exactly. A little experiment will tell you, and when you do find this out, don't ruin the effect by covering your face with too much powder or too much rouge.

The question of dressing to type is of the utmost importance in its contribution to the well-groomed appearance.

The well-groomed woman of moderate good looks has much more chance to appear well, I think, than the beautiful woman, dowdily dressed. There's something about unsuitable clothes that can spoil the charm of even the loveliest face.

This matter of knowing your type thoroughly is the outcome of careful consideration and study. Study the good and bad points of your figure, and the ways to accent the one and conceal the other. Study clothes that add to your charm by means of expressing your personality. If you have personality and manage to be well-groomed, much lies in your power!

CREAMED OYSTERS

SCALD one pint of water, then put the water in a saucepan. Add two tablespoons butter, salt, two bay leaves, and a dash of pepper. Let it come to a boil, add a tablespoonful of crumbs and one-half pint milk. It comes to a boil and add oysters, then cook two minutes. Serve on toast.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

New Ways of Serving Two Early-Spring Delicacies.

ASPARAGUS and rhubarb are perhaps the two most important spring foods that engage the housewife's attention. The prices of these foods bring them into the kitchen for the first few weeks after they appear in early spring. But by the time the markets are well stocked prices begin to drop. The young and tender rhubarb is mostly used as a sauce, or for the daintier pastries that cannot be made with it after it grows old when the fiber is coarse and the flavor acid. The pink and tender stalks need not be peeled, but should be cut in pieces with a sharp, stainless steel knife, or a silver knife, which keeps it from turning black. When it gets old the stalk should be peeled and trimmed, then the cut pieces plunged into boiling water to stand 10 minutes, which draws off the acid. Then they should be drained and used.

In preparing the young asparagus, trim the stalks back to the tender part. Then divide into as many bunches as are needed to serve as portions. Place them in an asparagus boiler and plunge into hot water to boil until tender, or stand in a small pot upright so that the tops steam while the stalks cook. The stalks that are cut off may be put into soup stock or used for a cream soup.

Asparagus Vegetable Soup. Wash and cut in small pieces the ends trimmed from a large bunch of fresh asparagus, and tie them up in a little square of cheesecloth. To one quart of water add a can of tomatoes, a cupful of finely minced celery, a whole carrot, scraped, a whole potato, a little chopped parsley, a large but thinly sliced onion, and the asparagus. Cover closely and boil gently for three-quarters of an hour. Then add a quarter cupful of rice and continue to cook 15 minutes until the rice is done. Season, remove the asparagus, dice carrot and potato, and it is ready to serve. Now for the cream soup. Just use the asparagus, celery, onion, water and a whole carrot. Cook until the vegetables are done. Then strain, add a pint of hot milk, thicken and season. Add the carrot diced very small by way of a garnish.

Asparagus Custard. Boil two bunches of well trimmed asparagus until very tender. Then after draining put it through a sieve. Beat into it pepper, salt, a dessert-spoonful of sugar, juice of an onion, and the yolk of an egg. Line timbale molds with the mixture, then beat three eggs in a half cupful of cream and fill the molds with it. Set the molds in hot water and bake until firm. Turn the custards out and serve with a thin drawn butter or with more cream.

Rhubarb Shortcake. Take four large or six small bunches of rhubarb. Wash, trim and dice, and if very fresh and young plunge into boiling water for five minutes. If old or more advanced, blanch fully 10 minutes. Drain, then put in a saucepan with a cupful of water and stew from five to 10 minutes. Add two cupfuls of sugar, and when it is melted remove from the fire. Make a biscuit-dough short-cake. When done split and butter it well, then fill and cover the top with the rhubarb. Serve as soon as it is made, so that it does not soak. If extra juice seems to be needed make a little sugar syrup of a cupful of sugar and a half cupful of water. When done add the juice of half a lemon and a tablespoonful of the rhubarb juice.

Rhubarb Pie. Prepare rhubarb enough to fill a pieplate full. Then plunge it into the boiling water for 10 minutes and drain. Line the great pie plate with a good short crust, put in the rhubarb, sprinkle with two cupfuls of sugar in which a dessert-spoonful of corn starch is mixed and a half cupful of water. Put on the crust and bake in a medium oven about 40 minutes.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Greatest Surprise of All

By Thornton W. Burgess

Love is faithful, come what may, Nor counts the cost it has to pay.

—Mrs. Hooty.

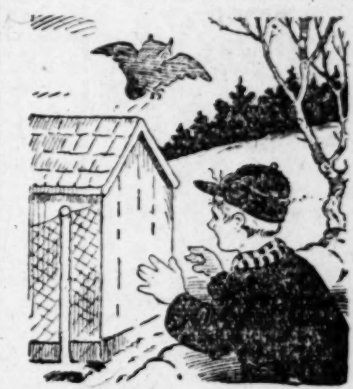

FARMER BROWN'S BOY got out of bed very early. He usually does get out of bed early, but this morning he was earlier than usual. In fact, the last of the twinkling stars had not yet vanished in the sky. What was he getting up so early for? Guess, just guess.

He was getting up so early for just one thing, and that was to see if there would be anything on the top of the pen he had made for the young Horned Owl he had taken from a nest in the Green Forest. You remember that every morning he had gone out to feed that young Owl he had found the body of a Wood Rat or a Mouse or some other of the little people of fur and feathers lying on the top of that pen. Never when he went to bed had there been anything there. He had always looked each night the last thing before going to bed. So he knew that whoever came there must come in the night or just after daylight in the morning. He meant to make sure which it was.

As soon as he was dressed he went downstairs and opened the back door. Daylight was beginning to drive out the Black Shadows everywhere. Farmer Brown's Boy hurried over to the wire pen beside the henhouse. Of course, he had his eyes fixed on the top of it. Sure enough, there lay something dark, just as had been the case for several mornings past. He wondered if it would be a Rat or a Rabbit or a Squirrel or some other of the little people.

He was so intent on this that he forgot to look around. As he drew near the pen he happened to glance up at the top of the henhouse. There on the peak sat a big bird. At first he didn't recognize it as a bird. You see it sat perfectly still. But as he drew near it suddenly spread great wings and, as silently as the Black Shadows which were slipping away before the jolly little Subeams of the early morning, flew away and disappeared toward the Green Forest.

"An Owl!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "That was a Great Horned Owl!" By the size I suspect it was Mrs. Hooty. Now what was she doing over here? It is a wonder that she didn't see that thing, whatever it is, down there

"An Owl!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "That was a Great Horned Owl!"

It was the light of understanding. "She brought that!" he cried excitedly. "It is a Grouse and she brought it! She brought it for that little Owl I have shut up in the henhouse. Of course! Why didn't I think of that before? She brought all those other things. Somehow she found out that that baby of hers is kept in this pen, though how she did it I don't know. She has simply been bringing food to him and leaving it there for him every night, or else very early every morning. Yes, sir, that is just what has been going on. She has been looking after her baby or trying to, even if he is a prisoner. I wouldn't have believed it if anybody had told me. But having seen her here I know it is true. She gave me a lot of surprises, but this is the biggest surprise of all."

Candlesticks and Lights

By WINIFRED BLACK

THE king's candlestick—they found it in the king's tomb over in Egypt the other day.

All made of gold, it was—soft gold without alloy—and set with emeralds and pearls and rubies, and blazing with diamonds.

And there it had lain in the soft mud of the mysterious Nile for generations and generations, and the scientists who have been excavating there found it and brought it to life.

Gold and rubies and emeralds and pearls and diamonds, and all to hold a little dim, good-for-nothing candle!

How great he thought himself, no doubt, this King of ancient days.

How royal was his mien and how magnificent his state of living!

Slaves he had by the hundreds, and eunuchs by the score—and dancing girls and captive maidens, and a queen and her handmaids.

Luxury Beyond Imagination.

And in his garden were little blue lakes, crossed by a network of ivory paths—and along the shores of the lakes strutted flocks of white peacocks with collars of silver blazing with emeralds or blue with the bluest turquoise.

And the dancing girls, even to the humblest of them, wore anklets of bronze and copper, and brass and silver and gold so that as they walked there was a tinkling like the ringing of exquisite bells.

And veils they wore—embroidered veils from Cashmere and from the far countries of the distant and secret East.

Doves of camels as fleet as the wind he had—the great King whose tomb has just been opened by the hands of aliens.

Light-footed horses, too, bred from a proud stock, and boats with sails of heavy silk, and oars that were set in rowlocks of beaten gold.

Oh, it was great luxury he enjoyed, this King of a great people!

But the best light he could afford was a candle. And the best heat he knew was a handful of sticks. And his bed was a rug thrown upon stones.

And how long would the fleetest of his camels last beside the cheapest flivver that was ever driven?

What a Contrast!

When he wanted to send a message to a brother King a few hundred miles away, he had to outfit a caravan and send them for a month's journey across the desert, and neither he nor anyone else knew whether the message would ever be delivered.

No telegraph wire—no telephone—no radio for him.

If you had shown him one reel of a single motion-picture he would have had you burned alive or drowned in boiling oil for a wizard. And as for a railroad train, or a steamer, or an airship—pouf! Why, he would have thought anyone who even hinted at the existence of such things a dangerous madman!

Poor old King! How little he really had with all his magnificence. The other day I met a woman just home from a course of lessons at a great university in a foreign country.

And she knew French and Italian, and Latin and Greek, and she had a smattering of German, and could even translate Sanskrit.

And she hadn't an idea of her own in the world.

Not an idea! Everything she said was something she had learned from a book or that someone else had told her. Something that someone else had learned in a book, too.

A beaten candlestick of gold to hold a flickering, inefficient, ridiculous life.

And yesterday I saw a beautiful woman—what eyes, what a skin, what a cloud of shining hair! But when she opened her mouth, what a voice, and when she smiled what a disfigurement!

Avant! malice, envy, jealousy—they screamed in her voice and grinned in her smile.

A candlestick of gold—to hold a guttering candle.

I'd like to see the King's golden candlestick—wouldn't you?

But when it comes to a light, I'll take the good old electric standby with a switch handy at the head of the stairs, thank you!

And other old beloved hymns are sung inspiringly by the large audiences and the choir of 50 voices led by Charles H. Richards at the

Your Floors Get Dirty

You must keep them clean. How much does this cost you?

IN every building that the public uses, the floors get dirty—actually dirty.

Whether the building is used for store, office, bank, or any public or semi-public purpose, every day there is a necessary cleaning job and a definite cleaning expense.

Linoleum floors reduce this expense. The cost of keeping them clean is low because linoleum is smooth, nonabsorbent, sanitary. All dirt on a linoleum floor is surface dirt. It wipes off easily.

How linoleum looks after cleaning

Floors of linoleum take a wax polish beautifully. Even if subjected to much wear, a linoleum floor, when waxed occasionally, takes on a soft, mellow lustre; and, after each day's cleaning, shows no traces of yesterday's traffic.

The low cost of keeping an Armstrong's Linoleum floor in first-class condition is proved by the experience of big building superintendents. Write us for some interest—ing figures showing the saving effected in cleaning cost by the use of linoleum floors. Or consult your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant for estimates of Armstrong's Linoleum laid in your building or office.

Our free 48-page booklet, "Business Floors," shows colors and designs of Armstrong's Linoleum suitable for use where the public come and go in numbers. Write for a copy.

What linoleum is Armstrong's Linoleum is a mixture of powdered cork and linseed oil, pressed or keyed on strong burlap. This mixture provides a floor material durable, smooth, nonabsorbent, waterproof, quiet, and resilient.

SIS'S SHOULDER.

THOUGH foreign nations fight and row
And warlike spirits smolder.
The thing that most concerns us now
Is Mr. Sisler's shoulder.

The murder of a Broadway vamp
Now hardly makes a flurry;
The shoulder of the batting champ
Is what makes rooters worry.

The rise in Piggy Wiggly stock
May cause a passing ripple;
But it would be an awful shock
If Sis should be a cripple.

Though blizzards rage from coast to coast
And winds be blowing colder;
The thing that interests us most
Is Mr. Sisler's shoulder.

What boots a little row between
Some actor and his muse?
For news the customers are keen
About that arm of Sis.

The Browns will never make the grade
And land in first position
Unless that famous shoulder blade
Should be in good condition.

Be that, however, as it may,
The doctor in a letter
Says day by day in every way
His shoulder's getting better.

The bill requiring street cars to be equipped with stop signals as amended provides that a copy of the anti-bootlegging bill be posted in every car. We can't see the connection, unless it be found in the old song: There's a red light on the track for Doogie Brown.

Other amendments make the law operative only during total eclipses of the sun and moon and applicable to wheelbarrows. Indicating that our Senators are inclined to make light of the tail light bill.

THE BRAVERY OF THE ABSENTEE.

THE city editor of one of the New York afternoon papers in the old days had a wonderful nose for news, but was lacking somewhat in a sense of humor. He sent a new reporter up to Harlem to put certain personal and leading questions to a large, red-haired gentleman named Flannagan, whose wife had eloped with a grocery clerk. An hour passed and then the reporter called up on the telephone and in a trembling, shaken voice he said:

"Mr. Blank, I'm nearly killed. I asked this brute Flannagan what you told me to ask him. He choked me and struck me and kicked me down three flights of steps. And he says that if I dare come back he will kill me. 'Look here,' roared the city editor, 'you go on back and tell that man Flannagan that, by heavens he can't intimidate me!'"

DEMOCRATIC PLANS FOR 1924 WRECKED BY HYDE'S ACTION

Governor, by Use of Veto Power, Has Decisive Trimmed Senate Majority in Game of Politics.

REVENUE DIRECTOR MEASURE VETOED

Reduction in Tax Rate Ho-ever, Is Signed by Hyon Advice of Lieut.-Go-Lloyd.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—It is quite generally conceded in Jefferson City that the Democratic majority in the Senate has met a more ignominious failure in its attempt at playing politics for campaign purposes. Gov. Hyde, use of his veto power, has wrecked the scheme, and it is not improbable that the politics he has played have weakened the position of Democrats.

In a veto message sent to the Senate late yesterday the Governor approved the Democratic bill measure creating the office of director of Revenue and Labor, and a few minutes later vetoed the measure. The measure would have reduced the State tax rate from 7 cents to 5 cents on the $100 valuation. In both instances he did not act until the Democratic majority in the Senate had been reduced to a bare majority. At a caucus early in the session the Democrats worked out a plan which they thought would politically embarrass the Governor, in that they believed they had a majority in the Senate. They scheduled a series of bills which would put the Governor and the Republican administration "in a hole," matter whether the Governor vetoed or not. With a Democratic majority in each House of the Legislature, they were certain of their ability to pass what they pleased.

Features of Democratic Plan
The outstanding features of the plan were:

Abolish the Tax Commission and substitute for it the office of Director of Revenue and Disbursements.

Lower the State tax rate from 7 cents on the $100 valuation to 5 cents on the $100 valuation. The plan to abolish the Tax Commission was entirely political, was based upon the belief of party leaders that there was a demand from the rural sections of the State that it be done away with. It believed that such action would prove the Democratic chances in election next year.

Although the supposed reason for the demand that the Tax Commission be abolished was that it had been directly responsible for increased assessments in many of the agricultural counties, it was not the intention of the party leaders to abolish the power to have State supervision of assessments. They intended to transfer the power to the Tax Commission in the House and it was in that form that the measure passed the Senate. In effect, they intended to abolish only the office of the Tax Commission as of now.

The measure included virtual abolition of the power of the Tax Commission including the right to assess roads and public utilities.

But when the bill reached the House, Representative Donnell Laclede, County offered an amendment, which was given him by Representative Whitcomb of St. Louis County, a brother of Senator Cotton, taking away all power of supervision of assessments and the power to assess the same. The amendment was adopted when it was adopted the Democratic program was wrecked.

There is no doubt that the error would have been made in creating the office of Director of Revenue and Disbursements had not been made. He would have permitted repeal of the Tax Commission. The measure creating the Director had one very good feature, that central State authority for the location of the income tax.

The bill lowering the tax rate also was purely political, the idea being that if the Governor vetoed it to save the revenue, it would be to save the revenue.
